LEGION CONVENTIONThe names of two Lowell men, Fred J. Roane and John J. Walsh are contained in the list of delegates and alternates slated to attend the national convention of the American Legion at Kansas City, October 31, November 1 and 2, made public at Legion state headquarters today. Mr. Roane is numbered among the 50 odd former service men who will represent the Bay State at the convention, while Mr.
Walsh has been selected as an alternate. Both men are well known in Lowell, where they are actively identified with American Legion work.
Roane only recently returned from Europe, where he toured the battle-scoured fields as a member of the Legion delegation that visited there as guests of the French government.
Walsh, besides being historian of the local post, last week was elected historian of the state department at the North Adams convention and is also commander of Middlesex county.IN THE OLD DAYS, said

(OCT. 2)Man Arrested In Chelmsford for Larceny Of Automobile In Lowell Is Held For the Grand JuryBenjamin Fine, aged 29, who claims residence on Tremont street, Boston, was ordered held for the grand jury by Judge Enright in the district court this morning after he had pleaded not guilty to charges involving the theft of an automobile and operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. A drunkenness charge was filed. Probable cause was found on the first offense and bail was set at $1000.
For operating an automobile while drunk a finding of guilty was ordered and for his appearance before the superior court on the first Monday of October bail was fixed at $300.
Fine was arrested in Chelmsford on the afternoon of September 19 by Officer George Small and taken to the Lowell police station after an automobile he was operating collided with a refuse wagon on the first Monday of October and then crashed into a picket fence. The above mentioned charges were lodged against Fine after it was discovered that the automobile heRATIFIES TREATY

MAN MORTALLY BEATEN

John McNiff Trussed and Gagged in Boston Lodging HouseBOSTON, Sept. 30.—A man believed to be John A. McNiff of Salem, was mortally beaten, trussed and gagged at a West End lodging house early today. Two men in the uniforms of naval seamen, who accompanied McNiff to his room and left hurriedly several hours later, were sought by the police as his probable assailants. The partial identification was made from letters in a pocket, addressed to John A. Mc-Niff, 25 Rawlins street, Salem.
The victim had been robbed.
Two sailors were taken into custody by the police in their attempt to round up the men who were with McNiff.
McNiff was a retail shoe salesman here, 32 years of age. He served over seas as a member of the Harvard hospital unit for 20 months.

Trouble Feared in Greek Colony if Bishop Troians Comes Here SundayThis action is the result of a stormy condition which has existed between the two factions in the Greek colony, the liberals and royalists. The royalists are firm in their stand behind King Constantine, while the liberals are with Venizelos. A short while ago, a meeting was held and it was decided not to invite either bishop here because of the danger of physical troubles.
The liberals claim their opponents intend a special meeting and invited Troians to come here. At one time it was thought Archbishop Metaxakis, who is said to have been driven from Athens by the king, would be asked to come here. Upon advice of Mr. Nounos, the invitation was not sent. Following this suggestion on September 3, the board of directors of the colony voted to ask neither bishop to be present.
It was after this action the liberals claim, that Bishop Troians was invited at a meeting open to all the people of the colony, whether or not they belonged to the union or were in good standing.

The naval tug Bagaduce, bound from Portsmouth, N. H., to the submarine base, this city, ran ashore on Booth's Island, east shore of Fisher's Island, eight miles from here in a dense fog late yesterday. Twenty-four members of the crew were taken off in surf boats by members of the craft, the naval tug Lykens was dispatched from the submarine base and wrecking craft from this city went to the tug's aid.

The tug is reported today lying high among the rocks, but in no immediate danger. Wrecking tugs are standing by and will attempt to float her.

death of Miss Virginia Rappo today were overshadowed at least for a time by the federal investigation into the supply of liquor drunk by the guests at the comedian's hotel party at which the state contends the girl was injured fatally.
Belief that his investigations had uncovered a gigantic liquor smuggling ring, operating with San Francisco as a base and which imports liquors only of choice brands, and quality from Mexico and Canada, was expressed by Federal Prohibition Director E. Forrest Mitchell. He is making his inquiry at the instance of Robert H. McCormack, special assistant to the United States attorney general.
Mitchell last night stated that he had a witness who delivered liquor to Arbuckle's suite at the hotel, St.

JUDGE SCORES METHODS OF DRY AGENTS

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—Federal prohibition agents who discover and seize liquors by representing themselves as revenue inspectors are guilty of "chicanery which should not be countenanced," according to Judge James M. Morton of the United States district court.

He so declared yesterday after hearing a petition from Cornelius O'Connor and William J. Woodcock of Pittsburg for the recovery of 10 barrels of whisky taken from their home by the agents without a warrant.

Martin Cunningham, who took the liquor to Pittsburg, testified that the prohibition agents told him he was under arrest and that he then showed them the houses to which he had taken the whisky. He said that the agents gave him a drink of whisky, that later they produced a warrant on the way to Boston and that he got drunk. He claimed that at the little building he signed a statement but did not know what it contained. The government tried to show that the liquor was part of a shipment removed from Quincy market storage warehouse, July 30, but Judge Morton ruled it out. He finally took the case under advisement.

BIG IMPROVEMENT IN X-RAY OUTFITS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Improvement in medical X-ray outfits to the extent that all danger of electrical shocks and burns has been eliminated, was described to the American Roentgen Ray society today by Dr. W. D. Coolidge of the General Electric Co.'s research laboratory at Schenectady, N. Y. At the same time he said, the outfits have been rendered so compact that efficient models but little larger than a camera may now be purchased.

Dr. Coolidge described the new types of self-contained, oil-immersed X-ray outfits for use in doctors' offices.

CHARGE ATTEMPT TO OBTAIN BRIBES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—E. G. Rickmeier, assistant chief of the personal audit section of the Internal revenue bureau's income tax unit, and Garnett Underwood, a former war department employee, were taken into custody yesterday by agents of the bureau on charges of attempting to obtain bribes, revealing confidential information and thefts of office records.

In a formal statement the revenue bureau alleged the two men had attempted to enter into negotiations with a Duluth, Minn., taxpayer, whose assessment was about to be raised. Their plan was disclosed by the taxpayer's appearance in Washington, and according to the statement, an arrangement was made by which the taxpayer met Rickmeier and Underwood in the presence of a secret agent. Rickmeier was appointed in 1919 from Sheboygan, Wis.

BROADSIDE ATTACK ON TAX REVISION BILL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—A broadside attack in the senate, on the tax revision bill was promised today by Senator Simmons of North Carolina, of the democratic forces in the fight on the measure.

The senator also planned to urge adoption of amendments offered by him yesterday, providing among other things for repeal of the passenger, freight and Pullman taxes, an increase of 20 per cent in the maximum income surtax rate and retention of the corporation capital stock tax.

Senator Smoot of Utah, a republican member of the committee, was expected to offer a series of amendments, chief among them a proposal for a manufacturers' sales tax.

Announcement had been made also that Senator Walsh, democratic, Massachusetts, would offer today a substitute for his previous amendment to the corporation income tax provision. The substitute would propose a graduated tax with a minimum of 15 per cent and a maximum of 25 per cent. His original amendment called for a minimum of 10 per cent on a maximum of 20 per cent.

replied in the affirmative, and as a shroud was adjusted on his head, started the song: "Oh, pal, Why Don't You Answer Me?" He was singing when the trap dropped.

Mrs. Wanderer and the "poor boob" were murdered in the hallway of the Wanderer apartment house in June, 1920. Mrs. Wanderer's mother, attracted by the shots, found her daughter dying and Wanderer seated beside the body of the "poor boob" methodically heating him with a pistol.

Wanderer said the stranger attempted a holdup in the dark hallway and shot Mrs. Wanderer, and that he in turn killed the holdup man. Police praised him. Later he signed a confession.

Tiring of family life, he said, he decided to get rid of his wife and her expected child so he could return to the army, in which he had held a lieutenant's commission during the war. He hired Edward J. Ryan to act as his dupe in the fake holdup and to accost him and Mrs. Wanderer, explaining he wanted to play a joke on his wife. When the vagrant approached, Wanderer shot both.

Bridge Will Not Be Closed

The letter of Sept. 26 mentioned requests the closing of one-half of the bridge while the remainder of the work is being completed.

The action taken today was practically assured after a conference of city officials and members of the construction company. At that conference City Engineer Kearney offered a solution which was contained in his report to the council today by which he thought the work could go on in a satisfactory manner without violating the terms of the contract.

While his solution was offered as one of many that might be devised, the construction company has decided it was the best available one to pursue and will go on with the work under those conditions. The solution is to open the outbound rail for the street railway traffic only, open up the inbound rail and two feet outside of it for immediate construction, leaving enough of the old roadway for vehicular traffic. After both rails and the down stream sidewalk are completed and ready for travel, the remainder of the bridge can then be closed for the completion of the contract.

It is expected now work will be pushed as rapidly as possible in an effort to gain as much headway under the existing conditions while the weather is good.

It was authorized by the council to add an additional $2500 on to the August appropriation for overhead which will bring the allowance to about the same per cent as was allowed on the July bill.

An order was passed for the immediate work on the sewer in City Avenue which must be repaired at once. Commissioner Murphy recommended the work to be done at once, while Mr. Kearney asked for $1053 to accomplish it. The appropriation was granted. It will be necessary to lay 112 feet of new pipe to properly carry on the work.

In conjunction with this order City Solicitor Regan has been instructed to notify the E. A. Abbott company of Boston that its company will be held responsible for the damage done. The Boston concern had charge of laying the pipes for the Harrison hotel, and it is claimed its laying of one of these caused the damage to the sewer.

Other orders adopted were the laying of cinder sidewalks and edge stones on Oliver street between School and Wampanoag streets, in front of 279 to 287 Fairmount street and on the southerly side of Mansur street and westerly side of Parkview avenue. An order was adopted for a permanent granite curb on the east side of Stevens street, one-half the cost to be paid by the abutters.

Sinn Feiners to Accept

prime minister's communication, expressed by Sinn Fein leaders yesterday, gave the public reason to believe that the cabinet would accept the invitation to the London conference.

Mr. Lloyd George made it clear that the British government would receive the Irish delegates as "spokesmen of the people they represent" but his note seemed to place no other conditions on the holding of the conference.

The very phrase quoted, however, appeared to be regarded in some quarters as giving ground for criticism. The critics of this phraseology here regarded it as ambiguous and as possibly limiting the status of the delegates.

The Dail cabinet meeting was set for three o'clock this afternoon. It was not expected that the reply to Lloyd George would be dispatched before 5 p. m., with the probability that it would not be given out for publication until some time afterward.

Journal Welcomes Reply
DUBLIN, Sept. 30.—The Freeman's Journal cordially welcomes Premier Lloyd George's reply, which, it says, creates a reasonable opportunity for the Irish and British representatives to meet. It declares that the premier's final paragraph leaves the delegates unfettered and the paper sincerely hopes that the invitation will lead to a conference.

Belfast Paper Sees New Crisis
BELFAST, Sept. 30.—Fear that a solution of the Irish controversy may not be reached at the London conference on Oct. 11 should the British government's invitation be accepted by the Sinn Fein, was expressed by the Northern Whig today. In commenting upon Premier Lloyd George's latest note, the newspaper said:

"Mr. Lloyd George has not permanently averred a grave crisis in the negotiations by his reply. Unless someone is prepared to make a very big surrender, he has only postponed it."

"The course adopted by the British government is open to criticism on various grounds. It may be condemned as undignified and lacking in courage, and therefore, unworthy of the rulers of a great empire."

Enormous Waste in Industry

cord, the "sell-then-make" policy, lack of standardization of appliances, conditions, work content and method, and inefficient planning, were given as the chief sources of waste.

"The most fundamental cause of waste," it was added, "is the traditional fear-inspired, order-entailing sales policy, which expresses itself in wide variety and its attendant make-to-order basis of manufacturing."

What seems to be needed, asserted the committee, is that each manufacturer limit the number of models and cloth styles, bridge the slack seasons by manufacturing for stock, and adopt vigorous, positive selling methods, backed up by effective national advertising.

Excessive variety in styles is largely responsible for seasonal employment, continued the report, adding that "study of sales statistics indicates that neither the consuming public nor the dealers really demand such excessive variety."

Industrial discord was said to have grown chiefly out of recurring seasonal employment, although the workers also were said to retain "vivid memories of the mere wage pittance they received in their former years of sweat-shop exploitation."

"The result," said the report, "has been a rapid unionization of the industry. Since unionization, strikes have been relatively infrequent. The collective bargaining agreements forbid strikes, lockouts and stoppages and provide impartial machinery and procedure for adjusting disputes."

Woolen mills were charged with a widespread tendency to trade and even to gamble in cloth, the whole process of purchase and delivery of woolsens being described as conducted "on a basis which many other industries abandoned long ago."

The committee commented "progress away from the sub-contracting system in tailoring" and development toward the establishment of large and stable manufacturing institutions which do their own fabrication—called tailoring—in large part."

Arrested for Larceny of Auto

correction and a state reformatory in the west.

Beginning with his first arrest in 1905 Fine was taken and sentenced under the alias "William A. Joyce," the copy of the record showed.

As police inspectors investigated the case they came on a room on Market street which they say was being occupied by Fine, where they found a large array of suits and men's wearing apparel. The police opined that the clothes were stolen and are still working on the case.

In court this morning Edwin M. Fuller, owner of the car alleged to have been stolen by Fine, Officer Small, and Mr. Rollins, driver of the wagon him was needed to compensate for the

that collided with the automobile, were the principal witnesses.

Mr. Fuller was questioned by Deputy Downey and told the occurrences of the afternoon when his machine was stolen. He missed it at 1:30, he said, from the curbing where he had left it an hour before and was called to identify it about two hours later at Chalmers street where it stood half way through a picket fence. "It was badly smashed," he said.

Officer Small told of Fine's arrest and said he was drunk. He first asked him for his license and auto registration, but when he produced a license that had expired and could not present a registration he decided to take him to Lowell for further investigation.

Mr. Rollins said he was struck by the automobile and thrown off. The wagon he was driving, he stated, was badly damaged. When the court asked Fine if he wanted to ask the witness any questions, he said he "hadn't heard a word he said" and when the judge repeated the testimony he stated he wanted to know if Rollins blamed him, Fine, for the collision. The court informed him that he had not made such testimony.

While the testimony was going on, Fine standing at the nearest corner of the cage, was attentively listening to the witnesses and once requested the judge to ask the witnesses to speak louder as he wished to hear all that was said. The court complied with the request. Fine wanted to know what the value of the refuse wagon was. When the court explained that the information would have no material bearing on the case the prisoner said he wanted to know that because all the money he had when arrested had been tied up and now he was badly in need of money. He said that he did not think such an attachment was actually placed on injuries to the horse and wagon. The judge told Fine the matter would be adjusted later as it could not be brought before the court.

The court then made known its findings.

DEALS BY INSPECTOR CHINA SENDS PROTEST

N. Y. Officer Owned $154,000 Apartment Under Another's Name Says Agreements Between U. S. and Japan on Yap Violate China's Sovereignty

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Stock speculation by Police Inspector John F. Dwyer, his purchase of a $154,000 apartment house and the alleged employment of two policemen under his command by his attorney in connection with a civil suit were investigated yesterday by the Meyer legislative committee. After the inspector bought the house through his attorney, Warren Leslie, with a $30,000 cash payment he was known to his tenants as William Leslie, the name of the attorney's father. The inspector's explanation was that because he was a police officer "they would holler police persecution" should action be taken against disorderly tenants, and this would be embarrassing. He cited five arrests made in the house on charges of misconduct and possessing narcotics.

Inspector Dwyer declared he accumulated $32,000 in stock speculations through five brokers and by savings from his salary, and that after putting $20,000 into the house, he incorporated the business and assigned his stock to his son, Capt. Candean of the police reserves managed the corporation, he added.

TO PREVENT ACCIDENTS

Woman's Part, Particularly as it Affects Children, Discussed

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—Woman's part in accident prevention, particularly as it affects children, was discussed today at a women's mass meeting, one of the features of the closing day of the annual congress of the national safety council.

Miss Harriet Heard of Detroit told how deaths among school children in her city were reduced fifty per cent. in one year by safety instruction and education, and Dr. E. George Payne of St. Louis, vice president of the education section of the safety council discussed safety instruction in schools.

Motor traffic problems as they affect various cities were considered at a conference of highway officials of New England states at another meeting.

RISKS LIFE TO SAVE TWO CHILDREN

LYNN, Sept. 30.—There are two Lynn children whose names are not on the accident roll through the quick work of Jacob Finkle, a student at Boston university and secretary of the Y.M.C.A. at Lynn.

Finkle, who lives at 112 Church street, near the elevation of the Boston & Maine railroad, saw the two boys playing on the tracks in the path of an on-rushing train bound for Boston. He shouted, jumped up on the embankment, and threw stones on his way to attract their attention, but the children continued absorbed.

He caught them up, but in doing so he fell on the track. The momentum of his body, however, threw them clear of the locomotive, which rumbled by sounding.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 30.—The bulk of her $50,000 estate is left to Catholic institutions all over the world by the will of Miss Agnes Mary Lincoln, which was filed here yesterday for probate. "To do a little in the way of reparation for the many evils to which the Holy See has been subjected," read the will, the sum of $50,000 is left to the pope "for the advancement of the holy religion and charity, the redemption of delinquent youth, as long as the Holy Father shall deem it advisable."

The Catholic university at Washington, D. C., is to receive $5000 in addition to the residue of the estate after all bequests have been paid. The will was made in 1919 and was signed in Rome, Italy, with the American consul in Rome as witness.

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—Suffering from starvation after walking the streets of Boston for two days in search of work, James La Tuily, giving his address as Northbridge, was brought to city hospital last night after he had collapsed in front of South station. Pedestrians saw the youth fall and called the police. LaTuily said he was 17 years old

SUPPRESSION OF SALOON

Great Achievement, Say
British Laborites—Give
Views on Prohibition

LONDON, Sept. 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—"The suppression of the saloon is an achievement for which the American people cannot be too thankful," declares a joint report of Charles H. Stuch and John E. Davison, labor members of parliament, who recently visited the United States to investigate the operation of prohibition.

"Prohibition, however, as we in this country were led to believe it prevailed, does not exist," adds the report, which also notes the development of home brewing, wine making and illicit traffic in liquor.

The labor members continue: "We are of the opinion that the American people will demand facilities for the purchase of light wines and beers, and had the anti-saloon propaganda been in the direction of eliminating the more disgraceful features of the saloons, securing change, management and more effective control, concurrently with the provision of facilities for obtaining these simple beverages, the bitter animosity aroused by its more drastic efforts would not have been provoked."

The report declares: "If ever it is sought to impose a similar law on our statute books the electors must see to it that it is not 'planted' upon them in the dark, but that its acceptance shall be only after a full opportunity is afforded for its adequate consideration and it is submitted for their approval and consent in a constitutional manner."

FOUR NAVAL RESERVE CLASSES ABOLISHED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Four of the six classes constituting the naval reserve will be practically abolished as a result of an order issued by Secretary Denby last night giving members of these classes the option of being disenrolled or transferred without pay to class six, the volunteer section. The order, affecting 155,000 men, was made necessary, Mr. Denby explained, by lack of adequate funds to continue the reserve organization.

In addition to class six, class one, comprising former officers of the regular reserve holding honorable discharges and enlisted men with at least 16 years' service, was exempted from the order.

Shireff's Sample Ends

OF FITCHBURG, MASS.

BOUGHT THROUGH THE COMMISSION HOUSE OF S. MORRILL & SONS, WORCESTER, MASS.

No praise of Shireff's Worsteds is needed from me. Your father and my father gave the Shireff's Worsteds renown—and all the Shireff people ever did was to try to live up to and hold their reputation—35 years in the woolen business, in which the word Shireff's meant the finest worsteds manufactured in New England.

Marvelously soft, to permit of easy tailoring, the Shireff's cloths have that extraordinary strength that goes only with super quality—in other words, the shape retaining virtue, always so essential to a perfect garment.

I bought these selling ends—all I could get—and they cost me thousands of dollars, as I know you'll like them the minute you see them. I would ask you to go a little farther, and give me credit for going after them in a time when everybody finds it so easy to go the other way—the cheaper way—the get-rich-quick way.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

Consolidation of All N. Y. Electric Lines Under City Control Urged

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Consolidation of all the city's subway, elevated and surface lines under municipal ownership, with a continued five cent fare for the first year of operation, was recommended by the state transit commission in its plan of readjustment made public last night.

The commission concluded that until there has been ample demonstration of the general results of operation of the new plan, and until its changes and economies have been tested fairly, there should be no change in the present rate of fare.

Summarized, the plan calls for: "Municipal ownership of all railway lines in the city of New York; 'Surrender by the companies of all existing franchises, including perpetual franchises; 'Unification of the entire transit system, with a board of control, three members to be appointed by the mayor, three by the investors and a chairman to be selected by the two groups;

PEABODY HAS LIVE

COMMERCE CHAMBER

In order to decrease the shortage in the number of homes in Peabody, the Peabody chamber of commerce, through its board of directors, has organized a housing corporation, known as the Peabody Housing corporation, for the purpose of erecting homes at a cost which will be within the means of the average workingman.

The type of house now under construction is a five-room bungalow equipped with hardwood floors, electric light and steam heat.

It is the plan of the corporation to erect only one house at a time and as rapidly as one house is sold, the next house will be started. The corporation does not intend to go into this business on a money-making basis but hopes, through its activities, to provide attractive and well-built homes for the large number who are already on the organization's waiting list.

The first house was started September 19 and before the first floor was entirely completed, it was sold September 28, and on that same day the corporation bought another house lot situated in the residential section of the city and excavation work was commenced for the cellar of the second house.

The Peabody chamber is one of the first, if not the first, trade organization in the country to successfully tackle the problem of providing homes of sound construction and attractive appearance within the means of the ordinary everyday workingman of the city.

through its board of directors, has organized a housing corporation, known as the Peabody Housing corporation, for the purpose of erecting homes at a cost which will be within the means of the average workingman.

President Frank H. Sanger of the Peabody chamber of commerce was selected as president of the Peabody Housing corporation, and the capital stock of the organization which amounted to $10,000, was almost immediately subscribed to by the directors of the Peabody chamber of commerce.

The type of house now under construction is a five-room bungalow equipped with hardwood floors, electric light and steam heat.

MINERS IDLE; LEADERS IN JAIL

Coal Shafts in Kansas Districts Idle as Howart and Dorchy Begin Sentences

Six Months in Jail for Calling Strike Last February—Miners' Convention

PITTSBURGH, Kan., Sept. 29.—All coal mines of the Kansas district were idle today coincident with the appearance at Columbus of Alexander Howart and August Dorchy, president and vice president, respectively, of the Kansas union coal miners to begin serving their sentence of six months in jail for calling a strike last February, according to reports to the headquarters of the operators' association here.

Refuse to Give Bond
COLUMBUS, Kan., Sept. 29.—Kansas coal miners doctored today to the little district court room here where their union president, Alexander Howart, and vice president, August Dorchy, were scheduled to appear, and give bond that they would call no more strikes in the Kansas fields or accept the court's alternative, six months in jail and a fine of $500 each.

In statements made before going into court the union leaders asserted they could not give the bond and that they proposed to serve out the sentences which were imposed July 8 last, following their conviction on a charge of violating the criminal section of the industrial court law by calling strikes in the district.

Vote on Salary Increase
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 28.—The convention of the United Mine Workers of America resumed voting today on a motion, the adoption of which President John L. Lewis said would brand the union's officers in the public mind as a "band of thieves" by requiring them to repay part of the 50 per cent salary advances paid since July last year. The early vote which started yesterday heavily favored rejection of the motion, but was too small to be decisive.

The motion, calling for restitution, came before the convention after it

QUICK ACTION TO AID JOBLESS

Unemployment Conference Reconvenes — To Adopt Emergency Relief Program

Country's Involuntary Idle Estimated at Between 3,700,000 and 4,000,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The National unemployment conference was prepared today to take quick action on reconvening today on adoption of an emergency relief program to meet the needs of the country's involuntary idle estimated in the report of its statistical committee to number between 3,700,000 and 4,000,000. Recommendations of the various sub-committees of the conference had been reported to a steering committee for review.

Regarded as the most important of the committee recommendations were those contained in the report of the committee on emergency measures by manufacturers. These were understood to include rotation of labor, the shortened week and partial employment as a program for increasing the number of employed.

The committee also was said to favor an appeal to producers, manufacturers and dealers to absorb as rapidly as possible any price changes. The committee on community and civic relief measures was understood to have recommended the appointment of special committees by the mayors of all cities to handle the unemployment problem locally.

than 200 letters dropped out, all containing marked ballots on Referendum No. 4, which is underway for the purpose of finding out how the 1300 members of the chamber feel about the purchase of the Lowell Gas Light Co.'s business and running it as a municipal piece of property.

Repiles are coming in by every mail. Mr. Wells considered the total reported this noon as being highly satisfactory indeed, considering the fact that the referendum ballots were only mailed yesterday noon. No one at headquarters, however, expects a complete ballot but it is expected that some idea may be obtained on the feeling among leading members of the chamber on the municipal proposition.

FUNERALS

CARLAND—The funeral of Miss Annie N. Carland took place today at 8:30 o'clock from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carland, 17 Second street, and was largely attended. A funeral high mass was celebrated in St. Michael's church, at 9 o'clock by Rev. Thomas J. Heaghey. The church choir sang the Gregorian chant, the soloists were Miss Margaret Griffin and Mr. Thomas P. Boulger. Mrs. Ella Reilly Toye was the organist. The burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, where Rev. Thomas J. Heaghey read the burial services. The bearers were John Cashman, John Tweed, James Mullin and Harry McCormick. The funeral was in charge of Undertakers Charles H. Molloy's Sons.

WHIPPLE SENT TO EAST CAMBRIDGE JAIL

Awaiting reappearance in the local district court next Thursday, this time to answer a charge of destroying property with malicious intent, in addition to the drunkenness complaint which originally caused his being brought before justice yesterday, Louis Whipple, who claims to reside on Chapel street, was removed to the East Cambridge jail late yesterday from a cell in the local police station when it was found he could not secure the $5000 bail asked for his release.

Whipple, who is 45 years old, was arrested in the Musketaquid mill, on Howe street, owned by the U. S. Worsted company, early yesterday morning after a terrific fight with watchman John Joyce, who caught him on the top floor of the building. It wasn't until Joyce had chased Whipple down into the basement and cornered him in the holler room and in the encounter that followed struck him with a coat sleeve, that the watchman was able to overpower the intruder and summon the police. That about $5000 worth of woolen cloth and yarn on 41 warps and loom rolls had been slashed with a knife was not discovered until mill hands began to work several hours later, and it was then that Arthur A. Wickes, mill superintendent, after a conference with police officials, asked that the more serious charge be lodged against Whipple. Mr. Wickes in an interview with The Sun yesterday afternoon stated that Whipple had been employed at the mill about three years ago as night watchman. Mr. Joyce succeeding him when he was discharged.

"DON'T GET HURT" WEEK MISNOMER HERE

(Special to The Sun.) BOSTON, Sept. 30.—The Massachusetts safety council, which with the national safety council, is conducting sessions in Boston this week in the interest of the prevention of accidents, finds that Lowell is not benefitting greatly by the "Don't Get Hurt" and "Safety First" campaigns.

There has been an increase in minor industrial accidents in Lowell this "no-accident" week over last week, although the number of automobile accidents has been reduced by eight.

EVELYN ROBBED

Evelyn Nesbitt, former wife of Harry K. Thaw, snapped outside her rooming house in New York's theatre district. The shop was robbed recently of several hundred dollars. Evelyn told the police. Four men who, Evelyn testified, attacked her in the hallway, were sent to the workhouse.

SKETCHES OF JUDGES OF NEW COURT OF JUSTICE

GENEVA, Sept. 30.—Professors of international law constitute a majority of the members of the new court of international justice as just elected by the League of Nations. Its composition is as follows:

Five professors of law in universities.

Two who are both professors of law and lawyers.

Two jurists.

One statesman.

At least five are professors of international law; while one is a professor of the history of political and civil institutions.

The professors are Moore, of the United States; Altamira, of Spain; Anzilotti, of Italy; Huber, of Switzerland; Oda, of Japan; Weiss, of France; and Bustamante, of Cuba.

The lawyers include Finlay of Great Britain and Loder of Holland. Altamira and Anzilotti are both professors of law and lawyers.

Nyholm of Denmark is called a jurist and Barbosa of Brazil a statesman and constitution-maker.

Many of the 11 judges are or have been diplomats or members of commissions or international tribunals which entitle them to be classed as jurists and statesmen of international repute.

Here are brief thumb-nail sketches of the 11:

John Bassett Moore, of the United States—Professor of international law and diplomacy at Columbia university for 20 years; has been third assistant secretary of state and counsel of the state department; member of numerous international tribunals or commissions and once member of the permanent court at The Hague.

Viscount Robert Baunatyne Finlay of Great Britain—studied in parliament, became a lawyer, member of parliament, solicitor general, attorney general, lord rector of Edinburgh university, chancellor of England and member of the court of arbitration.

Max Huber, of Switzerland, is professor of international law in the university of Zurich, jurist in the political department of the Swiss government and was a delegate to The Hague conference in 1907.

Dedrik Galtrup Gledde Nyholm, of Denmark, has been a member of the mixed international tribunal at Cairo since 1906 and a member of the court of arbitration.

Senator Ruy Barbosa, of Brazil, has been vice president of that country, minister of finance, member of the second Hague conference and was one of the authors of the Brazilian constitution.

B. C. J. Lodert of Holland, is a specialist in maritime law, has been a member of the Holland supreme court and was a member of the commission which drew up the plan for the international court of which he is a judge.

Dr. Torozu Oda, of Japan, is professor of the law college of the Kyoto Imperial university, is a member of the former Saga clan, studied law in England, France and Germany and is the author of works on the science of law and Japanese administration law. He is 53 years old.

Charles Andre Weiss, of France, is an Alsatian, born in Mulhouse. He is professor of law in the University of Paris; a member of the Institute of France, jurist in the French foreign ministry, member of the Academy of Moral and Political Sciences and member of the permanent court of arbitration.

Senator Rafael Altamira y Creya, of Spain, is professor of the history of political and civil institutions in the University of Madrid. He was a member of the commission of the League of Nations which elaborated the project for the international court of justice and was president of the Ibero-American institute of comparative law. He was a member of the arbitration commission established in 1914 in the dispute between France, Spain and Germany over mining rights in Morocco.

Dionisio Anzilotti, of Italy, is a lawyer, under-secretary-general of the League of Nations, professor of international law in the University of Rome.

Prof. Antonio Sanchez de Bustamante of Cuba, occupies the chair of international law in the University of Havana, and is dean of the law faculty. He is a member of the European Institute of International Law, president of the Cuban Society of International Law.

He was a Cuban delegate to The Hague conference in 1907, a delegate to the peace conference at Versailles, a member of the court of arbitration at The Hague. He has been a senator and president of the foreign affairs committee of the Cuban senate and is the author of books on international law.

SEEK AGREEMENT ON RATIFICATION VOTE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—A definite effort was expected to be made in the senate today to reach an agreement for a vote on ratification of the peace treaties with Germany, Austria and Hungary on Oct. 14 or 15. The agreement was put forward yesterday by Senator Lodge, after democratic senators in caucus had declared against night sessions for considering the treaties, and it was said to have the approval of all factions.

SUN ADVERTISEMENT BRINGS BIG CROWD

The Sun again today proved beyond

a questionable doubt its great advertising value. When a crowd of several hundred women stormed the entrance to the Rogers company store at 101 Central street, two hours before a big receivers' sale was scheduled to begin this morning, Samuel Savitt, of the Savitt Sales Service, who is conducting the sale, as he looked at the steadily increasing number of bargain hunters, smiled broadly, signed with satisfaction and exclaimed: "It will be a great sale. The advertisement in The Sun last evening has cer-

ELABORATE CEREMONY

Gen. Pershing to Place Medal on Tomb of Unknown French Soldier on Sunday

PARIS, Sept. 30. (By the Associated Press.)—The French government has arranged one of the most elaborate and impressive ceremonies since the armistice for next Sunday morning, when General Pershing will place the medal of honor voted by the United States congress, on the tomb of the unknown soldier of France.

The plans include an extensive military review of all the chief branches of the French army, to be led by a composite battalion from the American forces in Germany. The battalion which has undergone rigid training for the event will arrive in Paris with General Pershing tomorrow.

President Millerand, Premier Briand, Marshal Foch, members of the cabinet, the senate and chamber of deputies, and nearly all the French military leaders who are now in France will participate in the ceremony at the grave of the unknown soldier.

tainly brought out the largest crowd of bargain seekers I have ever seen at the opening of a sale before and I've conducted quite a few. Do Sun advertisements bring results? I'll say they do. Just look at this crowd and then judge for yourself."

That was the tribute, a most fitting one, paid The Sun by a man long in reference in the city, that sort of virtue of the many sales he has conducted both here and in cities throughout the east.

The women, anxious to enter the store and avail themselves of the bargain offerings they had read about in The Sun advertising columns, over-crowded the sidewalk and steadily poured out into the street. Then to keep order and system the front door was shot and pined only at intervals as shoppers who had been served were leaving with armfuls of goods by a rear exit. There wasn't the slightest hitch noticeable throughout the sale. Again tomorrow people of Lowell and surrounding districts will have the opportunity of obtaining some real values at Rogers.

U. S. AMBASSADOR

Warren Discusses Arms Conference Before American Japan Society at Tokio

TOKIO, Sept. 29 (by the Associated Press).—The coming Washington conference said Charles B. Warren, the American ambassador, speaking at a dinner given in his honor by the American-Japan society last night, would be a conference by common consent among sovereign states—a conference upon which the United States was not seeking to impose its will.

"The president," said Ambassador Warren, "is rather seeking a frank discussion with a view to bringing about as a concrete result, a declaration of principles by the nations participating which will prevent a practical application, will prevent a clash of conflicting interests and remove the causes for armament."

"The way to bring about the permanent limitation of armament," continued the ambassador, "is permanently to remove the reasons for armament. It will not do to meet and say they must limit armament and preserve peace. There should emerge from the conference a concrete basis for limiting armament."

R. R. DEEDS LAND TO U. S. AS A GIFT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—President Harding has accepted and added to the Mt. Rushmore national monument in California 178 acres of land, the gift of former Representative and Mrs. William Kent of that state and from the Mt. Rushmore and Mount Tamalpais railroad. "This is probably the first instance on record," the National Park Service said today, "of a railroad donating land to the United States as a gift."

The Mt. Woods, a notable grove of redwood trees, became the property of the United States in 1905 when President Roosevelt accepted 25 acres from Mr. and Mrs. Kent and proclaimed the area a national monument. It is located on the south slope of Mount Tamalpais about seven miles across the bay from San Francisco.

CUT FEE FOR VISING PASSPORTS TO $1

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 30.—The $10 fee for vising passports for aliens, which was said to have resulted in the diversion of a large part of the passenger traffic from this port to St. John and Halifax, has been reduced to $1. The chamber of commerce was advised by Senator Hale that an executive order providing for the change was signed by President Harding yesterday.

MAYOR BUSY ON NEW TRAFFIC REGULATION

Mayor Thompson is working on the new traffic regulation which will be turned over to the City Solicitor Regan within a few days, to be put in shape for presentation to the municipal council.

named traffic superintendent, will assume his new duties Monday. His place will be filled by another member of the force. While the new traffic regulation will not be ready for a couple of weeks, Mr. Connors will work along the lines made by the erection of new signs in the business district. He will have complete charge as to the regulations made for traffic for the present. While he will not make arrests unless the infractions are of a nature serious enough to warrant correction, he will attempt to straighten out matters so traffic will be more systematically regulated.

MAN INDICTED FOR KILLING FOUR PERSONS

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Sept. 30.—Emil Schutte, a storekeeper in Hadam, was twice indicted for murder by the Middlesex county grand jury yesterday, in the first bill he being charged with having killed by shooting Joseph Ball, Mrs. Mary Ball, the wife, and Jacob, aged 17, a son, and also by acting as the house in which they lived. The second bill accused Schutte of having killed his farmhand, Denis La Due, by shooting, and then of destroying the body by fire.

The crime alleged in the first indictment is said to have been committed on the night of Dec. 10, 1915. The farmhand disappeared about April 24, last.

Schutte has been in jail several months, and has at no time, according to the jailer, showed any worry over his plight. He retained counsel whom he recently discharged, and one of whom he has since asked to take up the case. The man was arrested on complaint of a son who claimed that his father had threatened his mother and had chased her from home, gun in hand.

Statements said to have been made by the children, most of whom are adults, led to an inquiry by the state police. They learned of La Due's disappearance after a dispute with Schutte. The police found bones in the ashes of a bonfire in a nearby woodlot. A young son peering in a shed window claims to have seen the quarrel, and he claimed further to the police that his father had threatened him if he told of the bonfire. The house in which the Ball family lived, close by the Schutte place, was thought by neighbors at the time to have caught fire from a stove. Schutte is said by the police to have had a bad boundary dispute with the Balls. The bodies, it is understood, were exhumed during the inquiry, and the state alleges that Schutte shot the three Balls as they attempted to escape from the burning house. Schutte has understood that he was being held for trial on the complaint involving his troubles with Mrs. Schutte and one of the sons, who protected her on various occasions. The accused will be put to plea next Wednesday.

MAYOR'S STATEMENT TO GOVERNOR COX

(Special to The Sun.) BOSTON, Sept. 30.—Gov. Cox has recently received from the mayor of Lowell a statement as to unemployment conditions in Lowell. The statement was in answer to a request from the governor, sent to all towns and city officials, as well as county commissioners, for information as to what was being done to relieve the unemployment situation. Lowell's reply was "The city this year appropriated more money than ever before for its street and sewer construction and is erecting two very expensive buildings, all of which was done with one thought in mind—to care for the unemployed." POLICE CHIEF AND TWO SONS ARRESTED

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 30.—State policemen yesterday afternoon went to New Britain police headquarters and arrested Sgt. Andrew J. Richardson, chief of the New Britain police detective force, and his sons, Andrew J., Jr., and Wallace Richardson. They were immediately taken in separate automobiles to this city, where Superior Court Judge Wolfe of New Haven, who has issued bench warrants, held them in a total of $50,000 bail on the technical charge of receiving and concealing stolen automobiles. They were remanded into the custody of the county sheriff while Attorney P. F. McDonough of New Britain tried to raise the bail of $50,000 for the father and $15,000 for each of the sons.

State Police Supt. Robert T. Hurley was in conference yesterday with State Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn and the arrest of Richardson followed soon after Mr. Hurley's departure. The bench warrant on which Richardson and his sons were arrested charges them with receiving automobiles, knowing them to have been stolen. The maximum penalty for such a crime is 10 years. The warrant was requested by State's Attorney Alcorn.

It is stated that a touring car stolen in New York was found about a month ago on the farm in Naughton owned by Wallace Richardson, the sergeant's son. Recovery of the car was made through the underwriters

ANOTHER DEER ISLAND PRISONER ESCAPES

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—With the disappearance of Thomas Shayne, 32 years old, from the county house of correction at Deer Island, admitted yesterday, it is believed that the prisoner has escaped from the institution in less than two weeks.

Shayne's disappearance follows quickly on the heels of the escape of Otto E. Chapman and Edward P. Wells on Sept. 18, which led to the abolition of the prisoners' Mutual Welfare league and a written reprimand by Institutions Commissioner Thomas C. O'Brien for George M. Harlow, master of the prison.

Despite the fact that officers on the island believed that Shayne had not escaped from its confines, Master Harlow reported last night that they had been unable to locate the prisoner. Every inch of the island was thoroughly combed yesterday afternoon. He was first reported missing at the mid-day check of prisoners, and nearly a week was required to keep a close watch for him. Shayne was assigned to the laundry at the island and was not a trusty. He had served half of a one-year sentence for larceny.

At the time of Wells' and Chapman's escape, it was reported that Commissioner O'Brien would ask for Master Harlow's resignation, but a written reprimand was the result. The two men escaped in the midst of an investigation of affairs at the prison being conducted by the commissioner.

detective agency of New York following the investigations by Detective Coleman of New York.

This happened about the time Sgt. Richardson made public the fact that two other cars were found in the possession of Dr. Mendel Volkenheim of New Britain, and a touring car was located in the possession of Jake Winkie, of that city, a brother of Louis Winkie, the real estate broker found murdered.

Dr. Volkenheim told the police he lost $4000 because he was unfortunate enough to buy the stolen cars. He surrendered one car to the police, but succeeded in making an adjustment with the owners by which he retained the other machine. The detectives reported that the cars were used for rum-running purposes.

GRANGE FIELD DAY IN WEST ANDOVER

President William M. Wood of the American Woolen Co. has promised to be one of the principal speakers at the Grange field day in West Andover next Wednesday. Plans for the annual fair have been completed. The events will be held at the opening of the American Woolen Co.'s farms off Lowell road, West Andover, and the object is to further the agricultural interests of the Andover villages and surrounding towns.

Great interest is being exhibited in the day's program, and it is expected that some of the finest farm products ever shown at any other grange fair, will be offered for exhibition purposes Wednesday. There will be attractive exhibits also from the Farm Bureau, the Junior club, the extension department of the County Agricultural school and similar organizations.

Among other speakers at the afternoon exercises besides the guest of honor, Mr. Wood, will be A. W. Gillett, state commissioner of agriculture; John D. Willard, director of the state agricultural extension service; C. W. Barron, of the Boston News Bureau, and Theodore H. Price, editor of Commerce and Finance.

The day's program will open at 9 o'clock and from that hour to 10 o'clock, the judging of livestock by Professor Salisbury will be the feature; a poultry killing and culling demonstration will be given under the direction of Prof. J. S. Carter, from 10 o'clock until 10:45, from 10:45 to 11:30, Prof. J. B. Abbott will take up New England crop management, and the home part of the subject will be presented by Mrs. Clifton Johnson. At 11:30, Leslie Smith, manager of the state grange, will give a story of the organization's work.

NO ADDITIONAL VOTING PRECINCT

An additional voting precinct to ward 8 in the Middlesex Village section will be impossible this year because the state law says no precinct changes will be made after July 1. This was handed down by the board of election commissioners.

At a recent meeting the Lincoln club voted to ask the mayor to have a fourth precinct created in ward 8 because precinct 1 of that ward has more than 2000 voters. It is possible the change will be made in another year, according to Chairman Hugh C. McOsker of the election commission.

Printing Pressmen's novelty dance at the Kasino last evening, when the amateur dancing championship of Lowell was awarded to Master Andrew and Miss Marie Carr. The contest was one of the best ever held in the Kasino. The contestants were none of them more than 15 years of age and there was great rivalry for first honors. In addition to the prize contest, songs by Thomas Carlin made a big hit and a novelty dance by Manuel Diaz also delighted the pressmen's guests.

The committee in charge of the entertainment included Timothy J. Linnahan, general manager; J. D. Starr, assistant; John Ahearn, floor director; G. E. Hird, treasurer. They were ably assisted by Daniel Sullivan, Harry Jones, James H. Price and James A. Flynn.

EMPLOYERS SHOULD CARE FOR SICK

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—Industrial workers in ill health should be cared for by their employers, F. M. Wilcox, chairman of the Wisconsin Industrial commission, declared before the general session of the National Safety Council here yesterday. Spirited discussion followed his statement, delegates taking issue with him from all parts of the floor.

Mr. Wilcox asserted that diseases of occupation come on "stealthily like a sneak thief," unknown to the worker. The employer should be protected against them, and legislation should be so explicit that no doubt would remain about the worker's position with reference to such protection, he said. Opposition to Mr. Wilcox's suggestion included assertions that it would

costliness, accompanied by corresponding inflation of currency and production.

Governmental incapacity, neglect and blundering.

Excessive expansion, overtrading and lack of foresight on the part of a considerable portion of the business community.

Exorbitant boosting of the cost of labor and stubborn insistence, in some instances, upon conditions not normally tolerable.

Governmental and private extravagance.

Tax System of 1917

But there is one element which, more than any other single cause, has stood and still stands in the way of our economic recovery. That is the improvident, disingenuous and mischievous system of taxation adopted in 1917.

Leaving aside its appalling complexity, its irritating and obnoxious cumbersomeness, the unfairness of its incidence, and its manifold actual and moral impediments to effort and enterprise, it has produced two effects of fundamental destructiveness:

It has prevented the accumulation of new capital and it has violently interfered with the normal flow of existing capital.

Capital has been driven from the highways of trade because the government lies in wait and exacts a huge toll going up to three-quarters of the wayfarer's income, blithely unmindful, too, of the fact that there is another way called "tax-exempt securities" which is not only safer, smoother and less laborious to travel, but is entirely free from toll.

For this throttling of the supply of capital for construction uses we have chosen the very time when we were most in need of an ample supply of funds, because European capital on which we had largely drawn before the war, is no longer available to us owing to the effects of the war—indeed, Europe, instead of being a provider of capital, has become an eager borrower here—and because the process of readjusting our industries to peace conditions and bringing our productive capacity in line with post-bellum requirements and opportunities, involves a very heavy capital drain.

Adversity and hardships have come upon the farmer, as they have come or cannot fail to come, in a greater or less degree, upon every element in the community in the painful economic process through which the country is passing.

The farmer is gravely discontented and under a sense of grievance with the existing order of things. His just grievances call for immediate, intelligent consideration and for effective redress.

If that redress can only be made effective by methods which are new and somewhat unpalatable to the established ways of business, then the less important will have to yield to the most important, i. e. business convenience and customs to the true welfare of the farming industry.

Labor

It hardly needs affirmation that in the difficult process of adjusting our affairs from an artificial and highly inflated basis to a true and normal one, labor cannot be left uncared for. On the whole, the workers, unionized or otherwise, have come to recognize that fact.

We are all beneficiaries of one another's prosperity, and it hardly needs arguing to prove that it is in the best interest of the employer, even from the merely selfish point of view, not to pay the lowest wages to which labor can be squeezed down, but rather the highest wages compatible with the successful conduct of his business and with keeping his product at reasonable cost.

By the same token, it is in the interest of the worker to be an efficient producer and not to slacken on the job.

COL. HOMAN ENRICHED

Hoard of Gold and Diamonds Buried During Revolutionary War Found

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Col. John W. Homan of Staten Island was enriched today by a hoard of gold and diamonds buried during the Revolutionary war by his grandfather who feared they might be seized by British troops.

The treasure was found yesterday by workmen excavating a cellar. Col. Homan declined to estimate the value of the find.

COLD SHOULDER
FOR KLAN OFFICER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The Ku Klux Klan controversy became a local issue in Washington yesterday, when Grand Goblin Harry D. Terrell, chief of the District of Columbia Klan, appealed to Police Inspector Clifford L. Grant for protection. Terrell complained he received a threatening letter, but instead of receiving assurances of protection from the detective chief, the official informed Terrell that the residents of Washington are opposed to his organization.

BOY SHOT WHILE IN GRAPE ARBOR

GREENFIELD, Sept. 30.—Francis Flynn, a boy of 14 years was shot while in the grape arbor of Frank Frizzell, a local butcher, last night, and today was said to be in a critical condition at the Franklin county hospital. Frizzell, troubled by thefts from his grapevine, he told the police, fired several shots from his revolver when he heard a noise in the arbor last night. Flynn was found on the ground a few minutes later, shot through the left lung. Frizzell said he had fired high intending only to frighten those whom he thought were raiding his vines. The authorities announced that he would be charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, and, in the event of the boy's death, would be charged with manslaughter.

GREENFIELD, Sept. 30.—Mrs. Alice Johnstone of this city and Mrs. Bertha McDermott of Boston, sisters, were drowned in the Connecticut river near Turner's Falls by the overturning of a canoe, early today. Wallace Cadran and Edward Letourneau of Turner's Falls, who were with the women, managed to reach the shore but were unable to save their companions.

REGISTRATION AT TEXTILE SCHOOL

Although official figures on the registration for the evening classes of the Lowell Textile school, which took place last evening, could not be obtained because at noon today all departments had not yet sent in their registration cards to the business office. It was learned that about 10 per cent. had registered. This number is about the same as that of the first registration night last year, but it is expected that this year's attendance at the school will be the largest ever. The evening classes will open Monday evening, October 10, but registration will close next Thursday night when another session will be held from 7 to 9 o'clock.

TO BE SWORN IN AS PROBATION OFFICER

Joseph L. Cronin will be sworn in as probation officer of the local district court tomorrow morning and will immediately succeed Edward J. Slattery, who, after twenty-one years of faithful service, retires from public life under a ruling of the civil service commission which sets seventy years as the age limit for employees under its jurisdiction. The oath of office will be administered by Judge Thomas J. Enright and it will be an informal affair, the justice told The Sun today. The ceremony will be conducted in the judge's private office prior to the opening of court session. Mr. Cronin will assume Mr. Slattery's duties immediately after.

Probation Officer Slattery, when queried as to his plans for the future, replied that he thought he would lead a quiet and restful life and take a much needed vacation.

Court and public associates of Mr. Slattery were very anxious of showing their esteem and respect in the form of a fitting tribute today, but when plans of the affair reached the veteran officer's ears, he voiced strenuous objections and as a result all arrangements had to be abandoned.

STORM WARNING

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The weather bureau today gave warning of a southwest storm from Cape Henry, Va., to Eastport, Me.

A disturbance of marked intensity central over the Great Lakes was moving eastward. Strong southwest winds would shift to west and north-west tonight and increase to gale force it was predicted.

Tanlac Accomplishes Remarkable Results In Geo. H. Nickels' Case

Prominent Wisconsin Man

Says Tanlac Promptly Relieved Him of Bad Case of Stomach Trouble of Six Months' Standing—Gains 27 Pounds and Feels Fine As a Fiddle

GEORGE H. NICKELS

It is an unquestionable fact that Tanlac is now being more widely endorsed by well known men and women than any other medicine on the American market. One of the latest to testify is George H. Nickels, well known lecturer, residing at 227 Wells st., Milwaukee, Wis.

"Tanlac has not only completely restored my health, but I have actually gained 27 pounds in weight," said Mr. Nickels in referring to the remarkable benefits he had derived from the medicine.

"For something over six months, my stomach was very badly disordered. I suffered terribly from indigestion and dyspepsia. At times I would be in great distress and I would invariably experience an uncomfortable bloated feeling for hours after eating. I had no appetite scarcely and the little I ate would often make me deathly sick. My head ached until I felt like it would burst and I was so nervous I trembled like a leaf. When I got up in the mornings I was so weak and dizzy, I couldn't trust myself to walk around and I just hurt all over."

"Tanlac has brought about a wonderful change in my condition for I am now enjoying the very best of health. My appetite is splendid. I relish my meals. Everything agrees with me perfectly. The nervousness, headaches and dizzy spells are all gone and I never have an ache or pain. I am only too glad to tell others about the wonderful way, to a less radical and a more reasonable regime."

"The new government will represent the different classes of Russia and through its agency there will eventually arise the United States of Russia—a United States richer in natural resources than the United States of America. This new state, deprived of ready money by war and revolution will welcome the advent of foreign capital and foreign experts and I am convinced they will reap profits as they sow investments."

He expressed the belief that the present negotiations, which he said he had understood were proceeding "secretly," would in a large measure succeed, although responses from America had not indicated the proposal was being considered there as favorably as in England and Germany. The Germans are particularly anxious to cooperate with the English and the Americans, he explained, for even individual commercial alliances represent to them "another link in a friendship which may later result in a new Germany."

Good Tanlac has done. It has no equal.

Tanlac and Tanlac Vegetable Pills are sold in Lowell by Green's Drug Store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Haverhill, Mass.; A. D. Falls, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggists in every town.—Adv.

LEGIONERS TO TAKE GOOD CARE OF REPORTERS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 30.—Accommodations for correspondents, representing the biggest newspapers, magazines and news distribution agencies in the country will be provided during the convention of the American Legion here Oct. 31-Nov. 2. The plan devised by the convention executive committee calls for a press box the entire length of the stage, with a passage leading under the speakers' stand to a press room where typewriters will be provided, together with multigraph machines and operators at specially installed telegraph keys. Newspapersmen, provided with cards that vouch for their credentials may go freely back and forth from the press box to the press room. Stenographic reports of the convention proceedings will be transcribed in "takes" which will be turned over to the American Legion news service desk, where the copy will be edited down to what might interest the newspaper writer. The edited copy will be sent, a page at a time, to the multigraph machine beneath the stage, where it will be stenciled and multigraphed, and the copies sent back to the press box, to be distributed to the news correspondents. Under the plan an adequate running story of the proceedings will reach the press box on an average of 20 minutes behind actual happenings on the convention floor, according to Chester T. Start, chairman of publicity.

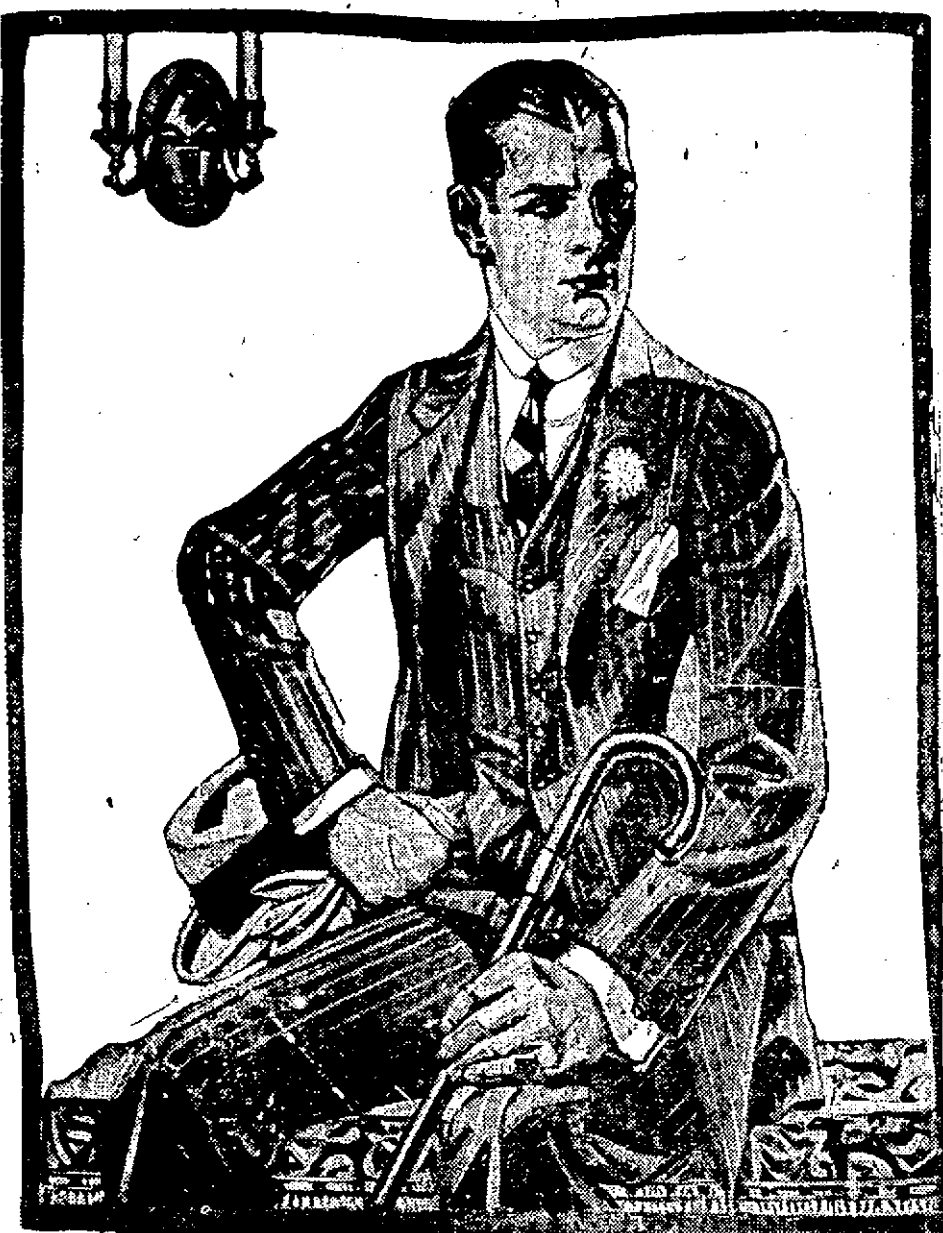

PROMINENT MEN TO ADDRESS RED CROSS

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 30.—The National Red Cross convention which will convene in this city on Oct. 4 and last five days, bids fair to be the most important of these gatherings that has ever been held, even of more significance from Red Cross viewpoint than the meetings held during the great war.

Men and women prominent in all walks of life are on the program to deliver addresses to the delegates. Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the central committee of the American Red Cross and president of Cornell University, will preside at a meeting Oct. 4, when Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of Ohio State university will deliver the address of welcome. Governor Harry L. Davis of Ohio and Mayor James J. Thomas of Columbus will welcome the delegates for the city and state. President Harding is expected to be the principal speaker.

Dr. Henry Noble McCracken, president of Vassar college will preside at the Junior Red Cross meeting in the afternoon of Oct. 5. "The Challenge of Childhood in America to the Red Cross" is the subject on which Miss Charl Williams, secretary of the National Educational association, will speak. Dr. W. W. Marquart, educational agent for the Philippine Islands in the United States, will address the convention on "The Juniors at Work in Our Insular Possessions." Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, will speak on "The Challenge of Childhood in America to the Red Cross" and What Junior Red Cross is Doing There," while Senator Frank B. Willis of Ohio is to deliver an address on "The Future Builders of the Nation and Citizenship Training."

The evening meeting dedicated to America's obligation to Her Service Men and Women, will be presided over by Dr. Farrand and ten minute speeches will be delivered by such notable speakers: Dr. Thomas E. Green, director of the speakers' bureau of the American Red Cross; Major General Ledoux, U. S. Marine corps; Rev. Francis B. Duffy, chaplain 16th regiment, Mrs. Frank V. Hammar, chairman, St. Louis chapter, American Red Cross; Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy; Rabbi Stephen Wise, Free Synagogue of New York; W. Frank Parsons, vice chairman in charge of domestic operations, American Red Cross; John G. Emery, national commander, American Legion and Gen. J. P. Pershing. Robert S. Galt, chairman of the Red Cross relief committee of Pueblo, Colorado, will address the convention on

Yeast Vitamon Greatest Complexion Secret Of All

Banishes Skin Eruptions, Puts On Firm Flesh, Strengthens The Nerves and Increases Energy.

Of What Use Are Beautiful Features If You Have An Ugly Skin, Flabby Flesh, Hollow Cheeks or a Scrawny Neck? Mastin's Vitamin Tablets are Positively Guaranteed to Give You New Health, Beauty and a More Refined Face and Figure Whether You are Young or Old or Money Back. Try them Yourself and See.

Concentrated Tablets Easy and Economical to Take—Results Quick.

If you want to quickly clear your skin and complexion, put some firm, healthy flesh on your bones, increase your nerve force and power, and look and feel 100 per cent better, simply try taking two of Mastin's tiny yeast tablets. VITAMON tablets with each meal and watch results. Mastin's VITAMON Tablets contain highly concentrated yeast-vitamins as well as the two other essential vitamins (Fat Soluble A and Water Soluble C) and are now being used by thousands. They positively will not upset the stomach or cause gas, but on the contrary, are great aids to digestion, to overcome constipation and as a general conditioner of the whole system. Pimples, boils and skin eruptions seem to vanish like magic under their purifying influence. The complexion becomes fresh and beautiful, the cheeks rosy instead of pale, the lips red instead of colorless, the eyes bright.

Instead of dull, so rapid and amazing are the results that success is absolutely guaranteed. At the rapid cost of nothing. Be sure to remember the name—Mastin's VITAMON—the original and genuine yeast-vitamin tablet—there is nothing else like it, so do not accept imitations or substitutes. You can get Mastin's VITAMON Tablets at all good druggists, such as:

GIRLS! BLEACH SKIN WHITE WITH LEMON

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchar White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin. Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.—Adv.

"The Red Cross in Disaster" on the morning of Oct. 5, Miss Mabel F. Challoner, secretary of the American Red Cross, will preside.

Reunions of Red Cross workers who served in the world war will be held at a series of luncheons. Sectional conferences will be held on the evening of Oct. 7 and morning of October 8. A mass meeting on roll call will constitute the afternoon's program, winding up with the historical pageant of the Red Cross in the evening.

Among those participating in the sectional meetings are: Ex-service group luncheon, Miss Clara D. Noyes, director Red Cross nursing service, presiding; Merritt W. Ireland, surgeon-general United States army; Admiral E. R. Stitt, surgeon general, United States navy; Hugh C. Cumming, surgeon general U. S. public health service; Julia C. Stimson, major, superintendent army nurse corps, dean, Army School of Nursing.

Military relief reunion: Col. George Filmer, manager Pacific division, San Francisco, presiding; Percy H. Clark, Washington, formerly director of camp service, and assistant director general of military relief, Edward E. Green, Cleveland, and Edwin H. Brown, Minneapolis.

TWO NEW STRIDES IN FRENCH AVIATION

Simultaneous completion in Toulouse, France, of a giant limousine airplane designed to carry twenty passengers from Toulouse to Casablanca, Morocco, in 13-hour non-stop flights, and of a fleet of aluminum planes specially constructed to carry freight and serve as "workhorses," marks two new strides in French aviation. The passenger plane, said to be the largest yet constructed in Europe, carries three motors totaling 1600 horsepower and is fitted up as comfortably as an American parlor car. It is especially equipped with new modern safety devices to enable it to fly by night without added danger. The aluminum planes, known as "trucks of the air," carry an extra motor and two spare propellers. Whenever a pilot in the Franco-Morocco service telegraphs that his plane has been disabled, one of the air "workhorses" goes to the rescue. The new planes have been built in the factory of G. Latécoere, Toulouse, headquarters of the Latécoere air service between France and Morocco.

"We plan to extend our service within a year, on the east to Algiers, and on the south to Dakar," Pierre G. Latécoere, director of the service, has announced. "Within five years we hope to be sending daily planes, with freight, mail and passengers, from France to South America, by way of Africa."

Picturesque Garden Where Beautiful Flowers Blossom and Linger In the Lap of Fall

Columbus Park Surrounding Immaculate Conception Church is Wonderland of Marvelous Beauty—Fall Display One of Unusual Splendor

Sun readers, attention! Would you like to spend a late September afternoon in a delightful wonderland of marvelous beauty right here in the heart of Lowell?

Would you care to stroll through a picturesque garden of massed fall flowers and shrubbery of rare origin only a few steps from The Sun building?

Then come and take a little jaunt with a curious reporter who has discovered something worth writing about.

Roses in full bloom! Japanese quinces ripening in the sunshine!

Rhododendrons gay in their fall coats!

Hydrangeas smiling and chummy! Golden glow fast fading but still sparkling freely!

Japanese grasses racing with zephyrus and callula for recognition!

Cannas towering over dwarf brothers in colorful splendor!

Berberis thornbush in hedge rows of quiet order and beauty!

California privets sweeping in circles, columns and battlements!

Sambucus canadensis sleeping, in shady places!

And then roses again!

Real roses of the Japanese variety called by expert florists "Tosa Rugosa." And all this wonderful picture right here in the heart of the Spindle City, just down East Merrimack street a few steps next door to the new Lowell Memorial Auditorium.

In that surprising garden spot, Columbus park, the foreground of the Immaculate Conception church.

Never before have the gardens and shrubbery in this famous beauty spot appeared so attractive at this season of the year. And never has that warm-hearted, modest representative of this church, Brother Frederick Jutras, O.M.I., for 16 years caretaker of the gardens, been so well pleased with the results of his annual labors among his children of the soil.

Brother Jutras is a gardener and shrub expert of wide renown, and his natural ability in arranging plants and flowers in orderly array, massive in spots and humbly beautiful yet attractive to the eye of the garden connoisseur in places where the contrast is best, has been praised by some of the cleverest landscape experts in the state. But Brother Jutras is very reluctant about accepting praise for his work of love, so The Sun man was compelled to accompany him on a "sawing around the circle" of the gaily colored park to "see for himself."

The fall display in these gardens is one of great splendor. Besides the shrubbery and flowers mentioned at the head of this story, there are maples, purpling and hardy; silver shrubbery wonderful in ostentatious sheen; magnolias of historic song and rhyme; azaleas orderly and beautiful; lilacs vesting for the 1922 floral parade; spiraea typical of the strenuous life; Norway spruces solemn and dignified, and a multitude of plants with long strange names from the far Orient, that would tax a reporter's memory to remember unless he wrote them down after interviewing the floral dictionary.

The masses of shrubbery in the "big circle" garden in front of the church are a sight to behold just now. Golden glow, salvi and other plants fill the spaces for display purposes. Then, along on side border, strangely enough, petunias are flowering valiantly. They are out of place, but for the park themselves like a line of soldiers, and Brother Jutras leaves them there to bravely sparkle and exhibit themselves to all visitors.

The mass of plants in front of the church structure is worth seeing, too. Earlier plants of the season are fast fading, but to hide the brown effect, Brother Jutras has set out towering

PLAYFUL PET!

Snakes are just as nice and playful as pet dogs or kittens, when you learn to like them, says this boy. He's the three-year-old son of Richard G. Paine of the National Museum in Washington, D. C.

HE'S WORRIED

A. F. Beal, horologist of the United States bureau of standards, is worried because one of his standard clocks is losing one-hundredths of a second a day! If he doesn't get it fixed it will lose almost four seconds in a year.

plants that seem to love the fall of the year, and do their best to make the picture brighter and happier as the days grow shorter.

There is a semi-circle of private, barberries and other hedge plants that attracts attention on the side of the park next to the new Memorial Auditorium. This Brother Jutras calls the "Rainbow" and that exactly suits the picture. There are four or five different colors in evidence as one walks about the "Rainbow," and the work done by the good brother on this charming garden alone is well worth going to see.

The Japanese roses are close to the fence near the auditorium grounds, and can be readily seen by anyone who cares to see roses in bloom in late September. They are rare, and appear rather small and really appear as though they were made of fine crepe paper for some Christmas tree. So delicate are they that they fairly fade away when the first frost comes, leaving only a tiny wreck on the stem of their former frame.

Lowell folks ought to see these rare flowers before the first big freeze destroys the exhibit.

Nature has been lavish in response to Brother Jutras' kindly work among his flowers and shrubs. Rhododendrons are doing finely, although some gardeners have frequent trouble with them. They have to be pruned.

Brother Jutras believes in his heart that flowers and shrubs gratefully appreciate care and attention. He has proved this fact many, many times. Quick to fade and droop if neglected for any length of time, the sensitive flowers revive and almost dance when carefully humored.

The azalea gardens contain flowers of some 15 varieties and bloom. The hydrangeas are handsome this fall, owing to the late season and few cold snaps.

A strange feature of "The Heart," another beautiful garden spot cultivated by Brother Jutras to the left of the church, has been the sudden appearance of many small, delicate ferns around the barberry bushes and other hedge plants. The ferns came up themselves, and now they are crowding the hedges and making themselves really conspicuous. And the good brother leaves them there and helps them on in their travels. He does not know where they came from, for they were never set out there.

There are maple trees growing purple and gray, spruces that shine like small ten-cent pieces, quinces that could be picked if they were not so green.

The magnolia is a splendid sight in April. The bushes with red berries also attract attention. Large laurel bushes spread forth their bright green in preparation for the time when Christmas comes and ropes and wreaths are to be made from them by the faithful church brothers and their helpers. The laurel is really necessary in Christmas decorations, Brother Jutras says.

This description of the wonderful gardens in Columbus park is wholly inadequate, but sufficient to say that The Sun man was grateful indeed for the kindly assistance and explanations given yesterday by Brother Jutras. The latter is now planning for next year, and yesterday visited James J. McManmon, nurseryman and landscape architect, and ordered 1000 tulip bulbs, red and yellow, which are to be buried in large beds in front of the church. Other bedding plants for next year are also to be placed in their new homes soon. The tulip display in the spring of the year is always a delight to the people who pass that way and with the early bloom of the magnolia tree attracts wide attention.

SHORN LAMBS ORDERED TO LEAVE BOSTON

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—One hundred and sixty-two "shorn lambs of labor" who had joined the soup line at the Church of the Unemployed founded here by Urban Ledoux have been ordered to leave the city under penalty of arrest as vagrants, the police announced yesterday.

Officers who examined applicants for relief at the church upon request of Roy MacGregor, left in charge of Ledoux, reported that scores of vagrants from all parts of the country had come here on the heels of Ledoux's recent "auction of the jobless" on the common.

Men were found in the soup line who had journeyed here, the police said, from Oregon, California, Kentucky, Mississippi, Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Maine and various points in Canada. Among excuses offered for non-employment was one that the man questioned was a weight-lifter in vaudeville and couldn't get a job because of his ragged clothes, and another that his work was seasonal as a "Christmas tree trimmer."

REWARD AND PROMOTE HEROIC POSTAL CLERK

was publicly thanked yesterday by Postmaster-General Hays for his part in preventing the robbery of a mail train near Fort Worth, Sept. 14, when two bandits were slain. Page uncovered the plot to rob the train and although he knew plans contemplated his death at the hands of the robbers, volunteered to act as the messenger to be held up. He was ordered to Washington by Mr. Hays to be thanked, rewarded with money and promoted.

The Best World Series Sizeup in The Sun

Billy Evans will write it. For 36 years Evans has been an American league umpire. He knows all the ins and outs of baseball.

Evans will give Sun readers an expert sizeup of the Giants and of the Yankees (or Indians), will tell who will win and why, and will wire an analytical story of each game from the press box.

Evans has umpired five world series himself. You'll get the "inside" of the big fray in his stories.

Lowell High Football Team Will Meet Nashua High at Nashua Tomorrow

Lowell high school's football team will dash forth on the steaming grid tomorrow in a game to be played with Nashua high school in the latter's ballfield. For a number of years past this has been the opening game for the red and black and each year the local representatives have given a good account of themselves. It is expected this year will be no exception to the rule.

When Coach Eddie Cawley says the word 12 muleskin-clad warriors will dash on to the enemy's lot full of pep and determination to start the season off on the right foot.

For the past week Coach Eddie has been sending his charges through some pretty stiff workouts at Spalding park in preparation for this contest. After looking the team over yesterday he concluded his outfit was about fit for the contest before it.

The year's eleven will toe the white chalk lines with seven of last year's veterans available. Two of the remaining four positions have been filled by second string men, while the other two berths have been gobbled up by newcomers to the squad.

Consequently Coach Cawley has a pretty hefty foundation for a successful eleven this season.

While a lineup has been decided upon, it is more or less tentative and no player is actually secure in his position. With 16-odd men fighting hard to displace any of the chosen regulars, the regulars realize they must fight hard and be right on the jump all the way to keep from being displaced.

The team is a mite handicapped by the fact no scrimmages have been held, but this has been more on account of the warm weather. Coach Cawley has devoted most of his time to perfecting signals and new plays. He considers perfection of team work much more essential factor than bumps and bangs obtained during scrimmage work.

For tomorrow's game, Holt of last year's team and Brownie, a new comer, have been decided upon as the wingmen. Holt gave a good account of himself while Brownie has shown more class than any other candidate for the end berth. Both boys are fast and Holt is known to be a hard, sure tackler. With Brownie, this pair should get down under punts in an approved style.

At the tackle positions Sullivan and Winters will hold forth. Sully played on last season's eleven and demonstrated his worth as a good defensive and offensive player. Winters was on the second team last fall and just missed making a berth with the varsity eleven. He has come along fast and has the earmarks of a good player.

A pair of Sullivan and Winters, McManis and Rowlandson have been decided upon to start as guards. The former played with the second last season while the latter was a varsity regular. Both are husky, fast boys, and should take care of thrusts at the center of the line in good shape. McManis will look after the pivotal berth again this year. He is a good ready snapper back and seldom if ever mixes signals. The responsibility of a center is great in these days of open and tricky football. The direct pass has revolutionized the work of a center.

Liston will be at the helm while the remainder of the backfield has but one of last season's varsity on it. Normandin played regularly last season and will start at fullback while Gleason, who will play halfback, was with the second team. Sheehan, the other back, is making his first appearance this year but gives promise of holding up his end of play in approved style.

Work today will be light and devoted to running through signals with work for the punters and receivers mixed in.

Who'll Be Lucky Rookie That Series Makes Famous?

found it necessary to call out Bush, a newcomer with the Mackmen that season, and a pitcher who had only one year of minor league experience. He had spent 1912 with the Missouri (Mont.) team.

Bush worked like a vet, opposing Jeff Tesseu, holding the Giants to five bingles and defeating them 5 to 2. He was the only Mack pitcher out-slinging the veteran pair to deliver George Whitteman, a third baseman for the White Sox, joined the team at the tail end of the 1905 season, playing as substitute at intervals during 1906.

Ordinarily a weak hitter, Roche, in the 1905 World Series, pounded out a triple in the fifth inning of the first game that ended the White Sox to win 3 to 1, and put him on the hot corner regularly for the balance of the series. Again in the third game of the series, Roche came up with the bases full in the eighth inning, and he was hit by the Sox.

White man, a veteran player who spent years in obscure minor leagues and who begged in vain for his chance in the big show, finally got it in 1913 when he was traded to the Sox.

He won the first game with his hitting, getting two of Boston's five bingles. In the third game he robbed Red Sox of victory by hitting a home run for a home run, by a seemingly impossible catch. In the fifth his perfect throw to the plate from left field cut down the Sox's rally. In the eighth inning of the eighth game, with Boston leading by only one run, White man saved the day by running down a string and getting the ball in one hand and turning a complete somersault.

Cincinnati Shows a New One in Bucking

CINCINNATI, Sept. 30.—Back in the good old days of ambulances, the only way a coach thought he could condition a foot-ball squad was by filling them up with beef and teaching them the art of kicking each other in the slats.

The twentieth century coach looks upon beef as a handicap and the training is as scientific as the trick plays.

These scientists are yearly perfecting new training methods.

The gridders at the University of Cincinnati this season are training with a "bucking strap."

It is expected to make the players more resistant at carrying the ball, strengthen shoulder muscles, and at the same time develop a couple of snappy tuckers.

Handler on the strap enable two players to hold back the man with the ball while he does his best to advance.

ON THE TEXTILE CAMPUS

Lowell and New Bedford

Textile Football Teams

Will Clash Tomorrow

At 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon on the local campus, Lowell Textile school's football eleven will get its first test in the New Bedford Textile team acting the roll of challengers.

Just what the outcome of the game will be is more of a matter of conjecture as neither eleven has had a chance to indulge in a contest this season. However to be patriotic and loyal to the home team a victory for Coach Becker's charge is expected and anxiously looked for by their supporters.

The new coach has been more or less handicapped by the lack of time to get the team together but he has made up for this drawback by his hard work during the few practice sessions afforded the squad.

If the coach's personality can be imputed into the eleven a walk over may be looked for by Tech. The fruits of his labor will be known before the sun drops out of sight tonight.

The chances for a good team this season are exceedingly bright considering the fact that a number of former players are available for the team.

Added to this the squad is larger than has turned out for a Tech eleven in the past. Capt. Walter Baker, while not in the pink of condition, believes the team will get away to a good start and thinks its supporters will be satisfied with the result of the battle put forth on the local gridiron tomorrow.

Little is known of the Whalers and what they possess in strength but word comes to the local camp the going will not be a cinch.

Coach Becker has not yet decided upon the lineup he will start as he is waiting until the final moment before passing final judgment on the ability of his men. It is expected it will resemble to a degree the lineup that has been working together in signal practice for the past few days.

CHARTER DEFECTS REMEDIED

Yesterday we told of the causes that led up to the adoption of the present charter. Today let us consider how the new instrument—our present commission charter—has worked and how its defects are to be remedied.

As related in our discussion yesterday, the new charter came in with high recommendations. The people were led to expect great things from it. For the first few years, its defects were not fully realized. Judging from the Galveston experience, everybody felt that the commission would be made up mainly of leading business or professional men. Some very capable men were chosen, of course, but the lure of the $2,500 salary for commissioner attracted men who were more or less in touch with city politics, and hence the fights for membership in the municipal council soon became so bitter, so abusive and so exciting, that few business men wanted to mix in them.

As a result, the real business men who landed in the council were few and far between. The ordinary business man would have but slight chance of success in running against a professional politician who devotes all his time to politics and has an organization behind him. Moreover, few men who have any business to look after, care to go out speech-making on the street corners or buttonholing friends and soliciting their support. Consequently, business men are barred from the municipal council as effectively as if they were ineligible.

The salary has been the cause of the bitter fights for the office of commissioner and hence in the new charter the salary of the members will be only $300.

The next glaring defect in the present charter is the very noticeable fact that the membership of the council is too small. The entire body consisted of five members and thus the destinies of the city were quite frequently left in the hands of the majority made up of three men. Two heads are usually better than one, and to remedy this defect, the new charter provides a council of fifteen members, of which eight will be the majority. With that number, the various questions coming up for action should be more capably handled than by less than half the number.

Another very grave defect in the present charter lies in the fact that the legislative and administrative functions of government are vested in the same body. The council passes ordinances and performs all the legislative functions conferred upon the municipality; but in addition each member is the administrative head of one or more city departments. That is radically wrong. It is opposed to sound public policy to have any official yoking away the amount of money which he himself has to spend.

All this absurdity will be remedied under the new charter, under which the council will be a purely legislative body and each department will be in charge of a competent head who will be held accountable for results.

Still another defect is found in the absence of ward representation in the council. All the members are elected at large and may all reside in one ward, so far as the charter is concerned. In such a case, they might naturally spend too great a proportion of the city's money in that ward to the neglect of the others.

This very vital defect is beautifully remedied in the new charter by having each ward in the city elect one member to the municipal council to look after its interests as well as the interests of the entire city. That will furnish nine members and the other six will be elected at large. Thus the council will have a majority of members, each of whom will feel a certain degree of responsibility to the residents of a particular ward.

At this point, we may say a word on ward representation as it was applied under the old charter and as it will be under the new. The old common council of Lowell, made up of ward members, was often referred to in a sneering or sarcastic way because it had a good many political controversies; but despite that fact, it was always more loyal to the interests of the city than was the board of aldermen. Whenever a deal or a scheme was evolved to unload something on the city or to make a raid on the city treasury, as a rule it originated with the aldermen. Many young men of the common council arose to prominence as a result of the opportunities there afforded them.

Under the present charter the young men never have had a chance. It is time to use their energy and enthusiasm for the benefit of the city and to afford them the opportunity the council offers for the development of whatever talent they may possess for directing municipal affairs.

Another advantage offered by ward representation is that the ward members are well known by the people who elect them and we insist that the people do want good government, but they have great difficulty in selecting the best men because they do not know them personally. Probably not one voter in every 100 of the electorate has had any personal acquaintance of the candidates whom they have supported for commissioner. On the other hand, some of the commissioners were equally unacquainted with the voters except in the mass. Thus the ward representatives will know the people who elect them and the latter will look to their delegates in the council to serve the best interests of the wards and of the city as a whole. This change alone, will bring highly beneficial results and will bring the people into closer touch with the government and result in a government that will more faithfully reflect the popular will, than would ever be possible under the present charter. Other phases of the charter will be contrasted with the new instrument in subsequent articles.

ACTION AND REACTION

A relatively easy study to master is psychology—the analysis of self, the study of human nature, of man individually and in his relations with other men.

Salesmen, more than any other class, have applied and profited from psychology, which is merely a branch of the law of action and reaction which Emerson called compensation. More difficult is that greater branch of the law of compensation—philosophy, science of causes and reasons, powers and laws.

So difficult, indeed, that billions live and die between the arrival of philosophers on earth. Authentic history covers thousands of years, yet the great philosophers can be named on your fingers.

And, after all, the philosophers learn nothing except that action produces inevitable reaction, that eventually is punished and good rewarded.

Think back over your own life. How has the law of compensation fitted in your case? How much of our punishment and reward do we get here on earth? Able minds can discuss it intelligently.

THE DYE CONTROVERSY

Col. Herman A. Metz of New York is in Germany collecting data on the German dye business with the intention of laying it before the finance committee of the senate. Although he owns a number of American dye companies, he is not in favor of an embargo on German dyes nor yet an excessive tariff. In a recent statement to a trade paper he said:

"There are certain German dyes which are excellent for the American textile trades, and which the British also acknowledge are superior; but to say that we cannot compete with Germany without a higher tariff is merely an effort to gain a monopoly for a few."

"You can make up your mind to this, that if German dyes do not come to us in the package or keg, they will come in on the fiber."

That seems to be a pretty fair statement from a man who is himself in the business of manufacturing American dyes. Better get the German article if at all in the package than in the fiber.

DISEASE GERMS

Tuberculosis death rate is high. But you wonder why it doesn't swiftly exterminate all humans, when you learn that nearly everyone at some time or other becomes infected with the tuberculosis germ. That information comes from the medical research organization of the Knights of Columbus.

The reason, most of us shake off the tuberculosis germ is because the average body normally has the power to kill invading diseases.

The great danger to health is not so much disease germs, as allowing the body, the general health, to grow weak and lose its power of resistance. If you are keeping your body healthy by fresh air, exercise and proper food, you need not worry very much over the prevalence of disease germs.

FRANCE AFRAID

France fears that Germany may have a financial crash next spring. That would wreck the indemnity program.

Rathenau, German business giant, wants to avert the crash by stopping payment of reparations in gold and delivering, instead, actual goods.

Germany cannot manufacture gold but she can manufacture enough machinery and goods to meet her payments. But such a flood of commodities would hurt manufacturing in allied countries. A war is a loss, no matter who wins.

PRINCE OF SIAM

M. Songkha graduates from Harvard and starts for home, Siam, where he is crown prince. The papers did not make a spread on that item.

But it will be important news one of these days when the king of Siam dies and the crown prince takes the throne with his head full of American ideas, which will transform Siam.

We talk about our foreign trade, but overlook the greatest export—American thought, principally democratic ideas. Declaration of Independence was the death warrant for kingship, though it has taken a long time to serve the warrant in many countries.

Judge Lazarus, who presided in the Arbuckle case, practically said that no evidence was submitted to show that the defendant had committed any crime. The fact that the comedian is held on the manslaughter charge offers but slight hope that he will be convicted.

That the peckish citizen should have frustrated the no accident efforts of the National Safety Council and started a blaze in their headquarters at the state house, is "the most unkindest cut of all."

If President Harding's disarmament conference proves unsuccessful, he cannot blame the democrats in Congress, as they have declared that it is in line with their policy of reducing taxes, long advocated in their party platform.

The democratic senators merely stand upon their rights in demanding reasonable consideration in dealing with the terms and scope of the peace treaties, now up for ratification.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

One of the best liked conductors on the single-track Framingham-Lowell railroad and one who knows everybody all along the line and its particularly popular among railroad workmen and station agents, is Jack Wright, always debonair, neatly shaved and sporting his blue cap slightly askew on the right side of his graying dome. Jack sometimes wears a carnation or a white daisy flower in his coat lapel and with his mustache closely cropped a la Pershing, the popular clematis punisher really presents quite a picture and one that well advertises the old New Haven road personnel right through and down the line.

Dan Hartley is another old-timer and popular on the Framingham-Lowell run. Passengers don't go clambering into the train before those who want to leave can get out—not when Dan is around. Always polite, kindly, helpful to wanderers, however, and he has a life job on the old Fall River line.

The gambling element is not heavily represented at the county fair in this neighborhood this year. It is understood that the state police passed out the word bright and early that all members of the cappers' crowd would have to watch out. The game was lively down in Waltham, I hear, money being passed out instead of candy and dolls whenever it was demanded by the winning wheel pushers, but the fair was not spotted with gamblers as was the case last year. The Acton fair in October is planning to arrest all gamblers who may appear there and who are caught in the act of working wheels or other games on a cash basis with money prizes solely.

I understand that the meeting of the state milk inspectors in Boston last Saturday did not suggest any further changes, for the present, in the laws and local regulations covering the lacteal supply and its distribution. It was thought that some cities and towns were neglecting to file full reports, but Lowell was found to have a handsome record and a clean bill in every respect. The local inspection service has received high praise from the eastern officials.

A recent conversation with one of our local garage proprietors brought to light a curious attitude on the part of automobile owners toward the insurance requirements. Many of those who store cars in public garages object strenuously to the rule which requires them to leave their keys in their machines as a protection in case of fire. They feel that their interests are better safeguarded by leaving their cars securely locked, and are entirely unwilling to assume the fire risk. An amusing circumstance in connection with this matter is that the garage men usually find the owners of the smaller and less expensive cars possessed of this peculiar perspective.

Spectators at the O. M. I. Cadet-Lawrence Oakleaves game on the North common last Sunday were greatly handicapped in their efforts to follow the play by the fact that at all times the scene of action was hemmed in by the crowd. This condition also made it difficult for the players to see the ball in and out of play, and brought the player carrying or receiving the ball into collision with the crowd in every case. Roping off the playing space, as in the twilight baseball games, would add greatly to the spectators' enjoyment and enable the players to exhibit a superior brand of football.

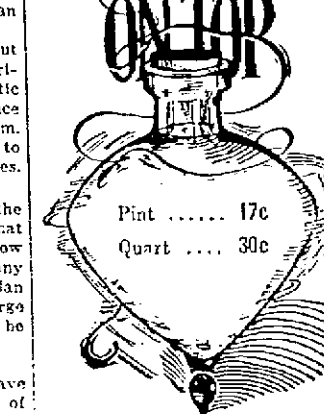

Among the petty annoyances to which our hard-working and conscientious policemen are subjected, there is probably none more irritating than the astonishing propensity of some of our residents for telephoning complaints to the station house on trivial, and often absurd grounds.

A typical illustration of this tendency occurs frequently in one of our most densely populated districts. When the officer on the beat rings his box at a certain corner, he is informed from the station that a complaint has been received in regard to a disturbance at the next corner. Upon investigation, the officer finds no trace of the alleged disturbance, and can secure no information. Upon his next round he is told that there has been another complaint from the same source, but is unable to find any trace of the malefactor. After this has occurred several times in the course of a few hours, the officer is at his wit's end, for he realizes that although he has done all that is humanly possible in the circumstances, the repeated complaints have reflected upon his efficiency, and he is probably due for a session "on the carpet." Residents could make the policeman's lot much easier if they would endeavor to establish the justice of their complaints before submitting them, or, still better, if they would try to tell their troubles to the officer directly concerned, and give him such additional information as would be of assistance in the eradication of the evil.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem WARNING

Hang up his clothes in closets
And dust his easy chair;
The ashes he deposits
In corners here and there,
You may with safety glean them
Wherever they are thrown;
His books—yes, you may clean them,
But leave his desk alone!

Pick up his pipes and range them
In order on the shelf.
His pictures—you may change them
About to suit yourself;
Redecorate, refurbish,
His room to give it "tone," Dust, scrub and sweep and burnish,
But leave his desk alone!

Well bear your zeal for order
With patience calm and sweet,
But do not cross the border
That marks his last retreat;
Touch not that heap and jumble
Of junk he calls his own.
Accept my counsel humble
And leave his desk alone!

Clever Come Back
The skipper was making up the log for the day, and the first item ran: "The mate was intoxicated." The mate asked the skipper to delay the entry. "No," said the skipper, "it's true, isn't it?" A few days later the mate was in charge of the ship, and his first entry in the log was: "Captain sober today." The captain seeing the entry, was angry and asked the mate what it meant. The mate replied: "Well, it's true, isn't it?"

Faith Plays Big Part
Dr. Simon Flexner, head of the Rockefeller Institute, said at a dinner in Philadelphia: "Don't be surprised at the faith cures you hear about. Even in legitimate medicine faith plays a large part. A friend of mine treated an old Manayunk woman for typhoid fever. At each visit he put his thermometer in her mouth to take her temperature. She improved, and finally a day came when my friend could dispense with his temperature taking. That day he merely prescribed and departed. But his hadn't gone far from the house when the old woman's daughter ran after him and called him back. 'Mother's much worse,' she said. My friend went back to the old woman. She looked at him reproachfully from her pillow and moaned: 'Doctor, why didn't ye gimme the jigger under the tongue today? That does me more good than all the rest of yer trash.'"

A Mother's Problem
He cannot be a lumberjack—
His daddy works at that.
And logging is too dangerous—
So that is settled flat.
He cannot be a president.
For you'll agree 'tis true
That presidents are raised against
For everything they do.
In spite of all his cleverness
Or any natural bent
He shan't be made a scoundrel
Like a U. S. president.

A politician, you suggest?
Why surely you are daft!
No son of mine shall follow
That polished trade of graft.
And if he followed that road
Or law, 'twould prostrate me;
My son must be too honest
To succeed at those you see.
He can't be an inventor.
For I know beyond a doubt
That he'd electrocute himself
Or burn his family out!

He cannot be a minister.
For sadly I suspect
Like other ministers, he'd live
On bounteous neglect.
His wife would look so "racky"
And his children underfed,
While you and I supported
The movie shows instead.
An author's works aren't popular Till he has starved and died.
A farmer mortgages his place
For a Ford in which to ride.

I'll be obliged if you can give
Some good advice to me
When he has grown to manhood's years.
What can my baby be?

FINDING HAPPINESS IN THE OLD WAY

BY RUTH AGNES ABELING
Yes, you may think it's rather a bad world, all changed around and different from the way it should be. Everything is too expensive and it takes hours to get anywhere. And you haven't a car. You haven't been able to afford an electric range, either. The charming little tea wagon with the lovely luster tea things—well, it's still in the shop and probably will be for the next year so far as you are concerned. You can't have those things and there just isn't any use of your trying to keep up.

So you're just going to get bitter about it, as bitter as you please! You're going to fairly luxuriate in your own misery.

"There are some people to whom philosophy and straightway concentrate on yourself a little harder and become even a little more bitter. Just then that friend of yours from over the other side of town drops in. You really have to do something. She's come so far and she'll spend the whole afternoon.

Suddenly you remember that there was a time before you began to long for automobiles, electric ranges, tea wagons and the like, that you used to make delicious chocolate and they were always nice little cakes in the cake box. The combination seemed to add something friendly to the afternoon.

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have roaring, buzzing noises in your ears, are getting hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Barmit (double strength), and add to it 1 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dripping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrh of the ears, is hard of hearing or has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

And so you brought out the long unused urn with the little cups and the delicate plates for cakes. You found you hadn't lost your art with chocolate and your friend discovered it.

After awhile—it was probably the chocolate which prompted it—the two of you walked to the back yard where zenias and asters blossomed. It seemed rather nice.

When your friend started to leave you remembered another of those old fashioned friendly habits. You walked with her to where she waited for the car.

It had been a nice afternoon hadn't it? And you didn't have an expensive luxuries—but you found a little real friendship within yourself.

WILL NOT ATTEMPT TO REGULATE SKIRTS

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—Boston school teachers are "ladies of the profession" all class and can be trusted to dress themselves properly on all occasions, Frank V. Thompson, superintendent of schools, declared in a statement yesterday. Furthermore, he added, it is common action of the Lyndhurst N. Y. school authorities to announce Thursday, the local board would not attempt to regulate the length of teachers' skirts.

"You see," she explains, "reptiles and many insects lose not only in the eyes, but in the color and quality of skin when they are preserved in alcohol or mounted."

"To be accurately represented, they must be painted while living. I hold the snake's head in my hand while I paint—of course, it is their nature to wind themselves about you—and they tell around my arm."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

D. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

How half sisters juggle and disagree over the side-hill farm of their deceased father, and how they are brought together through the kindly advice of the village paperhanger make the strong points of "Without a Will There's a Way," which is being played this week at the D. F. Keith Theatre by Will M. Cressy and Blanche Dayne. It was written by Mr. Cressy and it is in his very best vein. It is played faultlessly.

A singing song writer is Joseph Darcey, a blackface comedian who spills a lot of new comedy and who introduces the newest of song hits. Then there are Herman and Shirley in "The Mysterious Masquerader," a wonderful contortion act. Haig & Lavere are among the very best entertainers seen here this entire season, while Samsonoff and Sonia give the interesting dances and games of Old Russia. Other acts are the singing melange of Allen & Cantor, and the music of The Parshleys.

RIALTO THEATRE

Sydney Franklin's latest production, "Courage," which opened an entirely new program at the Rialto Theatre yesterday afternoon is one of the best screen productions seen in this section for many weeks. It gives Naomi Childers a part that is peculiarly suited to her exceptional talents, that of a plucky wife who waits patiently for a wrongfully imprisoned husband and who finally wins out by patience and perseverance. In addition to this feature the week end program of the Rialto carried a strong Grace Davidson production, "Love, Hate and a Woman," also a Famine Fox comedy, "The Skipper's Scheme," and a set of snappy kinograms. Don't fail to see this program which has but two more days to run. Under the renovation and remodeling which has gone on for months the Rialto now offers one of the most comfortable and attractive theatres in the city.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

A strong dramatic story with a swiftly moving plot, a popular star, massive settings and much intense action are the outstanding features of Elaine Hammerstein's latest photoplay, "Handcuffs or Kisses," now showing at the Merrimack Square theatre. The story tells of the bitter struggle of a young girl who is unjustly committed to a reformatory.

"The Blot," a Lois Weber production, is the other big feature for the week-end. "The Blot" is a drama more powerful than "Humoresque," which recently created such an excellent impression here. A comedy and the international news complete the bill.

Adventures of the Twins

SPIKE STARFISH

PRETTY SOON THE FAIRYMAN AND THE TWINS WERE SWIMMING AFTER TUB TERRAPIN

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

One day Nancy and Nick brought Tub Terrapin to Cap'n Pennywinkle.

"He's ready to show us," they explained.

Cap'n Pennywinkle scratched his head. "Bless my soul! Show us?" he cried. "Show us what?"

"I thought you would forget what I told you," replied Tub stuffy. "But that doesn't alter matters. If you wish to come along I'll show you just why Mr. Fisherman doesn't like Spike Starfish."

Cap'n Pennywinkle slapped his knee and grinned. "That's right, Tubby. You're honest, aren't you? Just wait until I get Mack Mackerel to mind the crossroads for me and I'll go at once."

Pretty soon the fairyman and the twins were swimming after Tub Terrapin to see why it was that Mr. Fisherman didn't like Spike Starfish. On they swam, on and on, until they came to the bay, not far from the place where the big net hung. Tubby led them to a seaweed grove where they could see but could not be seen, right beside a lot of smooth sand where a number of oysters were peacefully sleeping.

"My!" said Cap'n Pennywinkle, "don't they take life easy! Nothing to do but eat and sleep, the lazy creatures!"

"Oh, but just wait and see!" Tub told him. "Just you wait and keep very quiet."

So they waited and kept quiet. Pretty soon, who would peer out of the weeds on the other side of the water, but Spike Starfish!

He had five eyes and at the end of each, but he couldn't see very well. But smell! Oh, how he could smell! Uncle Tom's bloodhounds weren't a circumstance to Spike. And taste! Spike's mouth was right in the middle of him and he could taste all over.

Right after Spike came another starfish.

ASSESS IMPORTS ON U. S. VALUE BASIS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Belief that assessment of values of imported goods on an American value basis was a practical step, and if included in pending tariff legislation would work satisfactorily, was expressed yesterday by Secretary Mellon. The treasury secretary said that information now being gathered by customs experts with relation to the American valuation plan would be forwarded to the senate finance committee, piece by piece, the first being expected to be in the committee's hands within a few weeks.

Secretary Mellon, discussing tax legislation, declared reduction in surtax rates, as contemplated in the pending revenue revision bill, would result in a greater volume of business and therefore a greater net return in revenues. The same result would obtain, he believed, with respect to elimination of the excess profits taxes. In this connection, Mr. Mellon said he believed many big business men were escaping taxation, although he said they were using "entirely honest and legitimate means" in so doing.

The indicated opposition of the agricultural group in the senate to the surtax and excess profit tax changes was believed by the secretary to be actuated by a demand from the farmers, he added, in his opinion, misunderstood the effect of the changes.

JEWISH NEW YEAR

Special services will be held in the local Jewish synagogue Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of next week in observance of the beginning of the new year. During the three days no business labor will be done by the members of the Jewish Orthodox church. The feast of Yom Kippur, the day of atonement, will begin October 11 and will continue for 24 hours.

LEGAL NOTICES

Commonwealth of Massachusetts—Middlesex, ss. Probate Court. To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Charles E. Perkins, late of Middlebury, in the County of Stratford and State of New Hampshire, deceased.

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said court, by Mabel E. Perkins, widow, with certain papers purporting to be copies of the last will and testament of said deceased, and of the probate thereof in said State of New Hampshire, duly authenticated, representing that at the time of his death said deceased had estate in said County of Middlesex, on which said will may operate, and praying that the copy of said will may be filed and recorded in the Registry of Probate of said County of Middlesex, and letters testamentary thereon granted to her.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the twenty-fifth day of October, A. D. 1921, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week for three successive weeks, in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, at least before said Court, in witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and the seal of said Court, this twenty-ninth day of September, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one.

F. M. ESTY, Registrar.

Campaign to Raise Funds for New St. Jeanne d'Arc Church Opened Last Night With Bazaar

SECTION OF C. M. A. C. WHERE BAZAAR IS BEING HELD

The first gun in the campaign to raise funds for the new St. Jeanne d'Arc church in Pawtucketville, was fired last evening when a three-night bazaar opened at the C.M.A.C. hall in Pawtucket street. The affair has been under way for some time and numerous social gatherings and contests have been conducted as a side issue to the main event, which is now in full swing, and according to reports given out last evening, all have been very successful.

The big carnival is being conducted by an energetic committee of young men and young women from Pawtucketville, who are being ably assisted by their big brothers and big sisters from this side of the river. The proceeds of the affair will be turned over to the new St. Jeanne d'Arc church, who are now in charge of the new Pawtucketville church, and will be utilized in paying the cost of the erection of the new building and its equipment.

All roads led to the C.M.A.C. hall in the early part of the evening. The hall was not only crowded with people, but there were also many from St. Joseph's, St. Louis' and Notre Dame de Lourdes' parishes, and the various booths around the hall were well patronized.

The decorations in the hall were elaborate and presented a very pleasing appearance. Long streamers of red, white and blue extended from the four corners of the hall to the centre elevator from which hung a cluster of greenery. The walls were attractively decorated with bunting rosettes of various colors, while the windows were hung with lace curtains. The background of the stage consisted of two large American flags with the tricolor in the center. The front of the platform was decorated with red, white and blue festoons, while the edge was surmounted with potted plants, tiny decorations of cut flowers adding greatly to the decorative scheme.

The booths, where various articles were displayed to tempt the visitors were artistically arranged about the hall, the centre of the rooms being taken up with the flower table, a very pretty piece of work. This consisted of a round booth surrounded by red, white and blue bunting and surmounted by lattice work handsomely decorated with baskets of cut flowers. From this lattice work extended strips of bunting of various colors to the centre chandelier of the hall, tiny American flags having been placed here and there as the finishing touch.

The flower table was in charge of gracious young women prettily attired in white and pink and they did a thriving business. Upon entering the hall and turning to the left one saw a red booth, and while it was not decorated, it proved a big attraction. This was the fish pond, where one for the small sum of 10 cents could cast his or her line and take chances on articles "hooking."

The confectionery table, near the fish pond, was prettily decorated. There one could see a most tempting array of sweet stuff and this booth seemed to be the rendezvous of happy young couples.

The next booth was the shooting gallery, which proved attractive with its decorations of orange and white with a tiny golden star here and there. This is the place where marksmanship counts, and last evening numerous members of the semi-military organizations of the city as well as ex-service men, tried their skill.

The fancy table which adjoins the shooting gallery could well be called the ladies' corner, for at that booth there is a rare exhibit of fancy articles which appeal to the members of the fair sex. These articles are sold outright or are raffled off. Business there was excellent.

On the right hand side of the hall is the place for the thirsty ones, where all kinds of soft drinks are being dispensed. Next in line is the ice cream table, which proves a big attraction for the younger element. This table is also decorated with the national colors. Last in line is the grocery table, a main feature of which is its wheel of fortune. On this table is a big array of baskets filled with food of all descriptions on top of which is a handsome cupid doll. Last evening the wheel of fortune kept going around and all the time with the practically all the men and women were seen parading through the hall with baskets on their arm.

The bazaar will continue this evening and will be brought to a close Saturday evening, at which time an auction of all goods left over will take place. Saturday afternoon the children will be entertained.

Much of the success of the affair is due to the organizer, Miss Blanche Sicaud, and the following committee: Rev. Aurelien Merrill, O.M.I., chaplain; Alfred Sicaud, general chairman; Noe Emile Beauchamp, general secretary. The various tables, their presidents and assistants are as follows:

Confectionery—J. B. Sicaud and Mrs. L. THE OWNERS OF THE TWO-STORY TENEMENT DWELLING, AND THE TWO-STORY COTTAGE HOUSE, AND ABOUT 5000 SQUARE FEET OF LAND, SITUATED AT NOS. 34-36 FISHER STREET, IN CENTRAL-VILLE, HAVE DECIDED TO MAKE SALE, AND HAVE THEREFORE INSTRUCTED THE AUCTIONEER TO SELL TO THE HIGHEST BONA FIDE BIDDERS AT ABSOLUTE AND UNRESTRICTED PUBLIC SALE, ON NEXT SATURDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1921, AT 3 O'CLOCK P. M.

The premises consist of a two-story two-tenement dwelling of six rooms and separate toilets, pantry, gas and city water to each, at No. 36 Fisher Street. The tenement on the first floor has hall, parlor, dining-room, and two chambers, kitchen, pantry and toilet. The upper flat has six rooms on the one floor and pantry and toilet. There are two finished rooms in the attic, one for either tenement. The house has hardwood floors in part, has a plentiful supply of closet room to each flat, and is in excellent repair both inside and out. The upper tenement is rented to a very desirable tenant, who pays a rental of $150 per week, or $204 per year. The lower flat has recently been vacated, allowing the purchaser, if he so chooses, an immediate occupancy, or he may rent the same as there are many applicants requesting the tenement, and who have offered a rental of $5.00 per week, or $260 per year, making a total rental for this parcel of $464 per year. The cellar is dry, is extra high posted and very light, having five windows. This building has an abundance of closet room, and is heavily constructed, is high studded, and was built within six years by the present owner.

The lot has an area of 5000 square feet, with a frontage on Fisher Street of 50 feet, sets well above the street grade, is richly graded, has concrete bank wall, has concrete steps, has full grown hedge, has a small variety of fruit, and presents a most attractive and pleasing appearance.

This sale is most unusual, as it presents an opportunity for a buyer to have a cottage by himself, to have an income from two tenements, and the whole property located on the one lot, makes the cost of care and management practically free. Its location within one-half minute's comfortable walk of the Lakeview line of electric, within a reasonable distance to the city center, and in an attractive and quiet home locality, should make this sale especially appealing to all classes interested in real estate, whether buying for home purposes or for investment, or for speculation, or for future development, as the same can be referred to, not only as a home property but as a high grade investment, as the property can yield an income of $832 per year, by renting the cottage at the nominal rent of $6.50 per week.

The premises may be seen at any time before the sale, by calling at the office of the auctioneer.
TERMS: $500 must be deposited with the auctioneer just as soon as the property is struck off. Other terms made known at sale.
By order of MARTIN G. and MARGARET E. MURPHY.

De Valera Sends Communication to Lloyd George Accepting Invita- tion to Conference Oct. 11

LONDON, Sept. 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Eamonn de Valera today sent a communication to Prime Minister Lloyd George, accepting the invitation to a conference in London, Oct. 11, with a view to a settlement of the Irish question.

"We received your letter of invitation to a conference in London, Oct. 11, with a view to ascertaining how the association of Ireland with the community of nations known as the British empire may best be reconciled with Irish national aspirations," said Mr. de Valera in his reply.

"Our respective positions have been stated and understood, and we agree that conference, not correspondence, is the most practical and hopeful way to an understanding.

"We accept the invitation. Our delegates will meet you in London on the date mentioned and explore every possibility of a settlement by personal discussion."

Eamonn de Valera, leader of the Irish republicans, conferred with colleagues yesterday after receiving Prime Minister Lloyd George's note and it was generally believed that the Irish reply was virtually decided upon during the afternoon.

Satisfaction with the tone of the communication was expressed.

LOWELL PRIEST WILL STUDY IN ROME

Rev. William McFadden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan McFadden of Agawam street, who was ordained to the priesthood last June in Washington and who celebrated his first high mass at the Sacred Heart church in this city, will sail for Rome next month to study theology and canon law in the Gregorian university.

Rev. Fr. McFadden will study two years at the university, which will give him an excellent foundation for the work he will take up.

Since his ordination he has been on a vacation in this city and has been making plans for his departure. Very Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe of the Immaculate Conception church is making arrangements for Rev. Fr. McFadden's sailing.

It is expected Rev. Fr. McFadden will sail from New York on October 12.

IN THE OLD DAYS, said Scofield, "the foreman tried to drive you as hard as he could and you tried to do as little as you could. Finally, the company came out with a new scheme. Ready for Submission to National Conference on Unemployment

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. (By the Associated Press).—Tentative recommendations for providing work for the nation's jobless workers, estimated at four million, were completed today for submission to the national conference on unemployment.

The recommendations, drawn up by the conference's steering committee on the basis of reports from the various other conference committees, were characterized as an emergency program and said to be based on the principle that unemployment is in the main a problem for solution by the individual communities, the federal

SILENT TRIBUTE NOV. 11

Pres. Harding Calls for Two-Minute Prayer 'at Noon

Armistice Day

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The American people were called upon by President Harding in a proclamation issued today to offer a silent two-minute prayer at noon on Armistice Day, Nov. 11, when the body of an unknown American soldier, killed in France, will be laid to rest in Arlington national cemetery.

The proclamation calls upon "all devout and patriotic citizens" to pause for two minutes—from 12 o'clock noon until two minutes past 12—"for a period of silent prayer of thanks to the giver of all good for these valuable and colorful lives and of supplication for His divine mercy and for His blessings upon our beloved country."

Directions are contained in the proclamation for the half masting of the flag on all public buildings, all stations of the army, navy and marine corps, and all American embassies, legations and consulates throughout the world from sunrise to sunset on armistice day when it is the hope of the president that the whole nation shall join in honoring America's dead of the world war.

LINCOLN SCHOOL

Lighting Will Be Provided for Night Classes

Adequate lighting facilities to enable night school classes to be held in the Lincoln school will be installed in time for the first sessions, according to Commissioner George E. Mar-chand. A registration of about 400 indicates this school is going to be a popular one with those pursuing nightly study.

The chief problem holding up the lighting system at the present time is the exact number of rooms to be used.

Commissioner Marchand says he will install lighting fixtures as soon as this is decided upon.

The large enrollment indicates that all 12 rooms will be utilized and with even this number in use, accommodations will be rather cramped in some courses it is thought.

Gas fixtures will be put in the building as it is already piped with gas.
There are about 75 fixtures not in use which may be obtained by the commissioner and in all probability these will be put in.

Municipal Council Approves Report of City Engineer Relative to the Closing of Central Bridge

Man Arrested In Chelmsford for Larceny Of Automobile In Lowell Is Held For the Grand Jury

Benjamin Fine, aged 29, who claims residence on Tremont street, Boston, was ordered held for the grand jury by Judge Enright in the district court this morning after he had pleaded not guilty to charges involving the theft of an automobile and operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. A drunkenness charge was filed. Probable cause was found on the first offense and bail was set at $1000. For operating an automobile while drunk a finding of guilty was ordered and for his appearance before the superior court on the first Monday of October bail was fixed at $300.

Fine was arrested in Chelmsford on the afternoon of September 13 by Officer George Small and taken to the Lowell police station after an automobile he was operating collided with a refuse wagon and then crashed into a picket fence. The above mentioned charges were lodged against Fine after it was discovered that the automobile he was driving was the property of Edwin M. Fuller, of Corner street, who had reported the theft of his car from a parking space on Market street to the police about two hours previous that same afternoon.

When searched at the station Fine had a number plate registered to a Mochus auto dealer concealed on his person and carried a large bunch of keys in his pocket, many of them automobile keys. An operator's license he carried had expired.

Believing that in his capture they had arrested a notorious character, Deputy Downey, of the local police, asked the department of correction to furnish him with a copy of the arrested man's record, if there was any to be had. Several days later the record was received and revealed that Fine had been arrested eight times for various offenses and had served terms for larceny, breaking and entering, unlawful train riding, profanity and drunkenness, in state prison, house of

Local Attorney for Boston Construction Company
Files Protest With Council

E. A. Abbott Company is Held Responsible for Damage to City Sewer

At a special meeting of the municipal council held this morning the report of City Engineer Kearney regarding the request of the Engineering Service & Construction company of Boston, that the Central bridge now under repair be closed to vehicular traffic was accepted and approved as was predicted yesterday. This action means the construction company's request has been denied. Following the action Attorney Frederick M. Wier filed a protest which he wished placed in the files.

The protest outlined the case to date and concluded with the following: "We understand the council has refused to grant the request stated in the letter of Sept. 26, therefore without waiving any rights in and under the contract but expressly reasoning and relying upon and insisting upon said rights in and under the contract and against the city of Lowell, the Engineering Service & Construction company will complete the bridge and will hold the city of Lowell responsible for any increase in cost made necessary by reason of the city's refusal to grant the request."

JUDGE SCORES METHODS OF DRY AGENTS

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—Federal prohibition agents who discover and seize liquor by representing themselves as revenue inspectors are guilty of "discrepancy which should not be countenanced," according to Judge James M. Morton of the United States district court.

He so declared yesterday after hearing a petition from Cornelius G. Conner and William J. Woodhouse of Fitchburg for the recovery of 10 barrels of whiskey taken from their home by the agents without a warrant.

Martin Cunningham, who took the liquor to Fitchburg, testified that the prohibition agents told him he was under arrest and that he then showed them the houses to which he had taken the whiskey. He said that the agents gave him a drink of whiskey, that later they produced a quart of the way to Boston and that he got drunk. He claimed that at the Little Building he signed a statement but did not know what it contained. The government tried to show that the liquor was part of a shipment removed from Quincy market storage warehouse, July 29, but Judge Morton ruled it out. He finally took the case under advisement.

BIG IMPROVEMENT IN X-RAY OUTFITS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Improvement in medical X-ray outfits to the extent that all danger of electrical shocks and burns has been eliminated, was described to the American Roentgen Ray society today by Dr. W. D. Coolidge of the General Electric Co.'s research laboratory at Schenectady, N. Y. At the same time he said, the outfits have been rendered so compact that efficient models but little larger than a camera may now be purchased.

Dr. Coolidge described the new types of self-contained oil-immersed X-ray outfits for use in doctors' offices.

The specially designed tube in these types is completely enclosed in a metal box filled with oil which is "grounded" so that the whole high-tension system is safeguarded for both doctor and patient.

CHARGE ATTEMPT TO OBTAIN BRIBES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—E. G. Rickmeier, assistant chief of the personal audit section of the Internal revenue bureau's income tax unit, and Garnett Underwood, a former war department employee, were taken into custody yesterday by agents of the bureau on charges of attempting to obtain bribes, revealing confidential information and thefts of office records.

In a formal statement the revenue bureau alleged the two men had attempted to enter into negotiations with a Duluth, Minn., taxpayer, whose assessment was about to be raised. Their plan was disclosed by the taxpayer's appearance in Washington, and according to the statement, an arrangement was made by which the taxpayer met Rickmeier and Underwood in the presence of a secret agent. Rickmeier was appointed in 1919 from Sheboygan, Wis.

HERE is a real sport car with true Sport Car quality, beauty, power, speed and roominess—at the new low price of $1265.

Here, too, is an all-purpose car, almost as light as a roadster, with abundant seat room for four passengers.

This car will deliver from 18 to 25 miles per gallon of gasoline, and from 12,000 to 16,000 miles per set of cord tires.

The Sport Model is powered with the famous Oakland Six-Cylinder Overhead Valve Engine—the engine with special lightweight pistons that quicken acceleration and add to power, and with "honed" cylinders of the most perfect finish known to the automotive world.

Here are a few of the outstanding features of this great Sport Car Value:

- Light maroon finish with black fenders.
- Wire wheels.
- 32x4 cord tires.
- Alumite lubrication system.
- Genuine walnut instrument board.
- Slanting weatherproof windshield.
- 113-inch wheelbase; 67-inch frame.
- Special top with plate glass rear window.
- 44 h. p. six-cylinder overhead valve engine.
- 17-inch corrugated, laminated steering wheel.
- Genuine Brown Spanish leather upholstery throughout.

We will gladly arrange a demonstration of this new Sport Model to suit your convenience.

BROADSIDE ATTACK ON TAX REVISION BILL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—A broadside attack in the senate on the tax revision bill was promised today by Senator Simmons of North Carolina, of the democratic forces in the fight on the measure.

The senator also planned to urge adoption of amendments offered by him yesterday, providing among other things for repeal of the passenger, freight and Pullman levies, an increase of 20 per cent in the maximum income surtax rate and retention of the corporation capital stock tax.

Senator Smoot of Utah, a republican member of the committee, was expected to offer a series of amendments, chief among them a proposal for a manufacturers' sales tax.

Announcement had been made also that Senator Walsh, democratic, Massachusetts, would offer today a substitute for his previous amendment to the corporation income tax provision.

The substitute would propose a graduated tax with a minimum of 15 per cent and a maximum of 25 per cent. His original amendment called for a minimum of 10 per cent on a maximum of 20 per cent.

replied in the affirmative, and as a shroud was adjusted on his head, started the song: "Oh, Fat, Why Don't You Answer Me?" He was singing when the trap dropped.

Mrs. Wanderer and the "poor boob" were murdered in the hallway of the Wanderer apartment house in June, 1920. Mrs. Wanderer's mother, attracted by the shots, found her daughter dying and Wanderer seated astride the body of the "poor boob" methodically beating him with a pistol.

Wanderer said the stranger attempted a holdup in the dark hallway and shot Mrs. Wanderer, and that he in turn killed the holdup man. Police praised him. Later he signed a confession.

Tiring of family life, he said, he decided to get rid of his wife and her expected child so he could return to the army, in which he had held a lieutenant's commission during the war. He hired Edward J. Ryan to act as his dune in the fake holdup and to escort him and Mrs. Wanderer, explaining he wanted to play a joke on his wife. When the warrant approached, Wanderer shot both.

Bridge Will Not Be Closed

fusing to grant the request as stated in the letter of Sept. 24.

The letter of Sept. 24 mentioned requests the closing of one-half of the bridge while the remainder of the work is being completed.

The action taken today was practically assured after a conference of city officials and members of the construction company. At that conference City Engineer Kearney offered a solution which was contained in his report to the council today by which he thought the work could go on in a satisfactory manner without violating the terms of the contract.

While his solution was offered as one of many that might be devised, the construction company has decided it was the best available one to pursue and will go on with the work under those conditions. The solution is to open the outbound rail for the street railway traffic only, open up the inbound rail and two feet outside of it for immediate construction, leaving enough of the old roadway for vehicular traffic. After both rails and the down stream sidewalk are completed and ready for travel, the remainder of the bridge can then be closed for the completion of the contract.

It is expected now work will be pushed as rapidly as possible in an effort to gain as much headway under the existing conditions while the weather is good.

It was authorized by the council to add an additional $2500 on to the August appropriation for overhead which will bring the allowance to about the same per cent as was allowed on the July bill.

An order was passed for the immediate work on the sewer in City Avenue which must be repaired at once. Commissioner Murphy recommended the work to be done at once, while Mr. Kearney asked for $1000 to accomplish it. The appropriation was granted. It will be necessary to lay 112 feet of new pipe to properly carry on the work.

In conjunction with this order City Solicitor Regan has been instructed to notify the E. A. Abbott company of Boston that its company will be held responsible for the damage done. This Boston concern had charges of laying the pipe for the Harrison hotel, and it is claimed its laying of one of these caused the damage to the sewer.

Other orders adopted were the laying of outer sidewalks and edge stones on Oliver street between School and Wamsland streets, in front of 279 to 287 Fairmount street and on the southerly side of Mansur street and westerly side of Parkview avenue.

An order was adopted for a permanent granite curb on the east side of Stevens street, one-half the cost to be paid by the abutters.

Sinn Feiners to Accept

prime minister's communication, expressed by Sinn Fein leaders yesterday, gave the public reason to believe that the cabinet would accept the invitation to the London conference.

Mr. Lloyd George made it clear that the British government would receive the Irish delegates as "spokesmen of the people they represented" but his note seemed to place no other conditions on the holding of the conference.

The very phrase quoted, however, appeared to be regarded in some quarters as giving ground for optimism. The critics of this phraseology here regarded it as ambiguous and as possibly limiting the status of the delegates.

The Daily cabinet meeting was set for three o'clock this afternoon. It was not expected that the reply to Lloyd George would be dispatched before 6 p. m., with the probability that it would not be given out for publication until some time afterward.

Journal Welcomes Reply
DUBLIN, Sept. 30.—The Freeman's Journal cordially welcomes Premier Lloyd George's reply, which, it says, creates a reasonable opportunity for the Irish and British representatives to meet. It declares that the premier's final paragraph leaves the delegates unfettered and the paper sincerely hopes that the invitation will lead to a conference.

Belfast Paper Sees New Crisis
BELFAST, Sept. 30.—Fear that a solution of the Irish controversy may not be reached at the London conference on Oct. 11 should the British government's invitation be accepted by the Sinn Fein, was expressed by the Northern Whig today. In commenting upon Premier Lloyd George's latest note, the newspaper said:

"Mr. Lloyd George has not permanently averted a grave crisis in the negotiations by his reply. Unless someone is prepared to make a very big surrender, he has only postponed it."

"The course adopted by the British government is open to criticism on various grounds. It may be condemned as undignified and lacking in courage, and therefore, unworthy of the rulers of a great empire."

Enormous Waste in Industry

cord, the "sell-then-make" policy, lack of standardization of appliances, conditions, work content and method, and inefficient planning, were given as the chief sources of waste.

"The most fundamental cause of waste," it was added, "is the traditional fear-inspired, order-entailing sales policy, which expresses itself in wide variety and its attendant make-to-order basis of manufacturing."

What seems to be needed, asserted the committee, is that each manufacturer limit the number of models and cloth styles, bridge the slack seasons by manufacturing for stock, and adopt vigorous, positive selling methods, backed up by effective national advertising.

Excessive variety in styles is largely responsible for seasonable employment, continued the report, adding that "study of sales statistics indicates that neither the consuming public nor the dealers really demand such excessive variety."

Industrial discord was said to have grown chiefly out of recurring seasonal employment, although the workers also were said to retain "vivid memories of the mere wage pittance they

received in their former years of sweat-shop exploitation."

"The result," said the report, "has been a rapid unionization of the industry. Since unionization, strikes have been relatively infrequent. The collective bargaining agreements forbid strikes, lockouts and stoppages and provide impartial machinery and procedure for adjusting disputes."

Woolen mills were charged with a widespread tendency to trade and even to gamble in cloth, the whole process of purchase and delivery of woollens being described as conducted "on a basis which many other industries abandoned long ago."

The committee commended "progress away from the sub-contracting system in tailoring" and development toward the establishment of large and stable manufacturing institutions which do their own fabrication—called tailoring—in large part."

Continued

correction and a state reformatory in the west.

Beginning with his first arrest in 1908 Fine was taken and sentenced under the alias "William A. Joyce," the copy of the record showed.

As police inspectors investigated the case they came on a room on Market street which they say was being occupied by Fine, where they found a large array of suits and men's wearing apparel. The police opined that the clothes were stolen and are still working on the case.

In court this morning Edwin M. Fuller, owner of the car alleged to have been stolen by Fine, Officer Small, and Mr. Rollins, driver of the wagon that collided with the automobile, were the principal witnesses.

Mr. Fuller was questioned by Deputy Downey and told the occurrences of the afternoon when his machine was stolen. He missed it at 1:30, he said, from the curbing when he had left it an hour before and was called to identify it about two hours later at Chelmsford where it stood half way through a picket fence. "It was badly smashed," he said.

Officer Small told of Fine's arrest and said he was drunk. He first asked him for his license and auto registration, but when he produced a license that had expired and could not present a registration he decided to take him to Lowell for further investigation.

Mr. Rollins said he was struck by the automobile and thrown off. The wagon he was driving, he stated, was badly damaged. When the court asked Fine if he wanted to ask the witness any questions first he said he "hadn't heard a word he said," and when the judge repeated the testimony he stated he wanted to know if Rollins blamed him, Fine, for the collision. The court informed him that he had not made such testimony. While the testimony was going on, Fine standing at the nearest corner of the cage was attentively listening to the witness and once requested the judge to ask the witnesses to speak louder as he wished to hear all that was said. The court complied with the request. Fine wanted to know what the value of the refuse of the case was. When the court explained that the information would have no material bearing on the case the prisoner said he wanted to know that because all the money he had when arrested had been tied up and now he was badly in need of money. He said that he did not think such an attachment as was actually placed on him was needed to compensate for the injuries to the horse and wagon. The judge told Fine the matter would be adjusted later as it could not be brought before the court.

The court then made known its findings.

N. Y. Officer Owned $154,000 Apartment Under Another's Name

Says Agreements Between U. S. and Japan on Yap Violate China's Sovereignty

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Stock speculation by Police Inspector John F. Dwyer, his purchase of a $154,000 apartment house and the alleged employment of two policemen under his command by his attorney in connection with a civil suit were investigated yesterday by the Mayor's legislative committee. After the inspector bought the house through his attorney, Warren Leslie, with a $25,000 cash payment he was known to his tenants as William Leslie, the name of the attorney's father. The inspector's explanation was that because he was a police officer "they would better police" should action be taken against his business, and this would be embarrassing. He cited five arrests made in the house on charges of misconduct and possessing narcotics.

Inspector Dwyer declared he accumulated $32,000 in stock speculations through five brokers and by savings from his salary, and that after putting $20,000 into the house, he incorporated the business and assigned his stock to his son, Capt. Candace of the police reserves managed the corporation, he added.

TO PREVENT ACCIDENTS

Woman's Part, Particularly as it Affects Children, Discussed

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—Woman's part in accident prevention, particularly as it affects children, was discussed today at a women's mass meeting, one of the features of the closing day of the annual congress of the national safety council.

Miss Harriet Beard of Detroit told how deaths among school children in her city were reduced fifty per cent. in one year by safety instruction and education, and Dr. E. George Payne of St. Louis, vice president of the education section of the safety council discussed safety instruction in schools.

Motor traffic problems as they affect various cities were considered at a conference of highway officials of New England states at another meeting.

RISKS LIFE TO SAVE TWO CHILDREN

LYNN, Sept. 30.—There are two Lynn children whose names are not on the accident roll through the quick work of Jacob Finkle, a student at Boston university and secretary of the Y.M.C.A. at Lynn.

Finkle, who lives at 113 Church street, near the elevation of the Boston & Maine railroad, saw the two tots playing on the tracks in the path of an on-rushing train bound for Boston. He shouted, jumped up on the embankment, and threw stones on his way to attract their attention, but the children continued absorbed.

He caught them up, but in doing so he fell on the track. The momentum of his body, however, threw them clear of the locomotive, which rumbled by with brakes grinding and whistle sounding.

The youngsters tumbled down the embankment and hurried home. Finkle's knees were bruised, but otherwise he was uninjured.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 30.—The bulk of her $55,000 estate is left to Catholic institution all over the world by the will of Miss Agnes Mary Lincoln, which was filed here yesterday for probate.

"To do a little in the way of preparation for the many applications to which the Holy See has been subjected," read the will, the sum of $50,000 is left to the pope "for the advancement of the holy religion and charity, as long as the Holy Father shall deem it advisable."

The Catholic university at Washington, D. C., is to receive $5000 in addition to the residue of the estate after all bequests have been paid. The will was made in 1919 and was signed in Rome, Italy, with the American consul in Rome as witness.

SUPPRESSION OF SALOON

Great Achievement, Say
Views on Prohibition

LONDON, Sept. 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—The suppression of the saloon is an achievement for which the American people cannot be too thankful, declares a joint report of Charles H. Stieh and John B. Davison, labor members of parliament, who recently visited the United States to investigate the operation of prohibition.

"Prohibition, however, as we in this country were led to believe, it prevailed, does not exist," adds the report, which also notes the development of home brewing, wine making and illicit traffic in liquor.

The labor members continue: "We are of the opinion that the American people will demand facilities for the purchase of light wines and beers, and had the anti-saloon propaganda been in the direction of eliminating the more disgraceful features of the saloons, securing change, man-agement and more effective control, concurrently with the provision of facilities for obtaining these simple beverages, the bitter animosity aroused by its more drastic efforts would not have been provoked."

The report declares: "If ever it is sought to impose a similar law on our statute books the electors must see to it that it is not 'planted' upon them in the dark, but that its acceptance shall be only after a full opportunity is afforded for its adequate consideration and it is submitted for their approval and consent in a constitutional manner."

FOUR NAVAL RESERVE CLASSES ABOLISHED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Four of the six classes constituting the naval reserve will be practically abolished as a result of an order issued by Secretary Denby last night giving members of these classes the option of being discharged or transferred without pay to class six, the volunteer section. The order, affecting 195,000 men, was made necessary, Mr. Denby explained, by lack of adequate funds to continue the reserve organization. In addition to class six, class one, comprising former officers of the regular reserve holding honorable discharge and enlisted men with at least 16 years' service, was exempted from the order.

It Gives $70 Value for $35

It even breaks down the barriers of high cost clothing—for Mitchell the Tailor with his cash buying power has acquired a stock of woollens such as no other tailoring house in New England can show.

Shireff's Sample Ends

OF FITCHBURG, MASS.

BOUGHT THROUGH THE COMMISSION HOUSE OF S. MORRILL & SONS, WORCESTER, MASS.

No praise of Shireff's Worsteds is needed from me. Your father and my father gave the Shireff's Worsteds renown—and all the Shireff people ever did was to try to live up to and hold their reputation—35 years in the woolen business, in which the word Shireff's meant the finest worsteds-manufactured in New England.

Marvellously soft, to permit of easy tailoring, the Shireff's cloths have that extraordinary strength that goes only with super quality—in other words, the shape retaining virtue, always so essential to a perfect garment.

I bought these selling ends—all I could get—and they cost me thousands of dollars, as I know you'll like them the minute you see them. I would ask you to go a little farther, and give me credit for going after them in a time when everybody finds it so easy to go the other way—the cheaper way—the get-rich-quick way.

Ready-to-Wear Overcoats

Made in my own shop during the dull months of August and September. Most of these garments are strictly hand tailored. Some all lined, others are one-half satin lined. I have them in one-half belts, whole belts, with patch and vertical pockets, ulster styles and regular effects. From what I have seen in store windows the lowest grade of these coats would retail around $32.50 to $35.00.

If I have your size, I have a number of styles as low as

Hundreds of styles, no two patterns alike—All 1921 production. Don't confuse this announcement with the frequent offerings of unknown, unbranded, unstandardized fabrics.

Shireff's Worsteds for thirty-five years back are of known quality and standard value to the $50 tailor of old, and the $75 tailor of today. To get them at my price is like buying gold dollars for fifty cents. A $70.00 proposition made to your measure, for

GETS SMOKES MAILED 18 YEARS AGO

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Sept. 30.—An instance of British postal delay, but an equal testimonial to its persistency, was the delivery here yesterday

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

Consolidation of All N. Y. Electric Lines Under City Control Urged

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Consolidation of all the city's subway, elevated and surface lines under municipal ownership, with a continued five cent fare for the first year of operation, was recommended by the state transit commission in its plan of readjustment made public last night.

The commission concluded that until there has been ample demonstration of the general results of operation of the new plan, and until its changes and economies have been tested fairly, there should be no change in the present rate of fare.

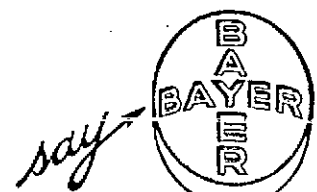

Summarized, the plan calls for: "Municipal ownership of all railway lines in the city of New York."

"Surrender by the companies of all existing franchises, including perpetual franchises."

"Unification of the entire transit system, with a board of control, three members to be appointed by the mayor, three by the investors and a chairman to be selected by the two groups."

ASPIRIN

Name "Bayer" on Genuine

Take Aspirin only as told in each package of genuine Bayer Tablets of Aspirin. Then you will be following the directions and dosage worked out by physicians during 21 years, and proved safe by millions. Take no chances with substitutes. If you see the Bayer Cross on tablets, you can take them without fear for Cold, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Earache, Toothache, Lumbago and for Pain. Handy tin boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell larger packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacturing of Monacellacidester of Salicylicacid.—Adv.

"Genuine home rule by the city in the administration of its transit affairs."

"Elimination of stock speculation in transit facilities, by the elimination of stock."

"Rates of fare to be based on actual cost and automatically determined by the amount of a contingent reserve or barometer fund."

"Substantial economies in operation of the unified system through consolidation and the elimination of the numerous leasing and operating companies, with their unnecessary duplication of overhead, separate traction policies and independent purchases."

PEABODY HAS LIVE COMMERCE CHAMBER

In order to decrease the shortage in the number of homes in Peabody, the Peabody chamber of commerce,

through its board of directors, has organized a housing corporation, known as the Peabody Housing corporation, for the purpose of erecting homes at a cost which will be within the means of the average workingman.

President Frank H. Sanger of the Peabody chamber of commerce was selected as president of the Peabody Housing corporation, and the capital stock of the organization, which amounted to $10,000, was almost immediately subscribed to by the directors of the Peabody chamber of commerce.

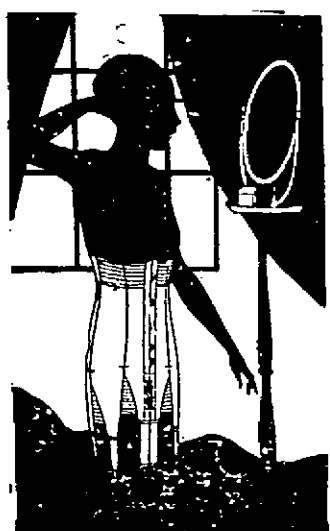

The type of house now under construction is a five-room bungalow equipped with hardwood floors, electric light and steam heat.

It is the plan of the corporation to erect only one house at a time and as rapidly as one house is sold, the next house will be started. The corporation does not intend to go into the business on a money-making basis but hopes, through its activities, to provide attractive and well-built homes for the large number who are already on the organization's waiting list.

The first house was started September 19 and before the first floor was entirely completed, it was sold September 23, and on that same day the corporation bought another house lot situated in the residential section of the city and excavation work was commenced for the cellar of the second house.

The Peabody chamber is one of the first, if not the first, trade organization in the country to successfully tackle the problem of providing homes of sound construction and attractive appearance within the means of the ordinary everyday workingman of the city.

Coal Shafts in Kansas Districts Idle as Howart and Dorchy Begin Sentences

Six Months in Jail for Calling Strike Last February—Miners' Convention

PITTSBURGH, Kan., Sept. 30.—All coal mines of the Kansas district were idle today coincident with the appearance at Columbus of Alexander Howart and August Dorchy, president and vice president, respectively, of the Kansas union coal miners to begin serving their sentences of six months in jail for calling a strike last February, according to reports to the headquarters of the operators' association here.

Refuse to Give Bond
COLUMBIUS, Kan., Sept. 30.—Kansas coal miners locked today to the little district court room here where their union president, Alexander Howart, and vice president August Dorchy were scheduled to appear and give bond that they would call no more strikes in the Kansas field or accept the court's alternative, six months in jail and a fine of $500 each.

In statements made before going into court the union leaders asserted they could not give the bond and that they proposed to serve out the sentences which were imposed July 8 last, following their conviction on a charge of violating the criminal section of the industrial court law by calling strikes in the district.

Vote on Salary Increase
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 30.—The convention of the United Mine Workers of America resumed voting today on a motion, the adoption of which President John L. Lewis said would brand the union's officers in the public mind as a "band of thieves" by requiring them to repay part of the 50 per cent salary advances paid since July last year. The early vote which started yesterday heavily favored rejection of the motion, but was too small to be decisive.

The motion, calling for restitution, came before the convention after it

Country's Involuntary Idle Estimated at Between 3,700,000 and 4,000,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The National unemployment conference was prepared to take quick action on reconvening today on adoption of an emergency relief program to meet the needs of the country's involuntary idle estimated in the report of its statistical committee to number between 3,700,000 and 4,000,000. Recommendations of the various sub-committees of the conference had been reported to a steering committee for review.

Regarding as the most important of the committee recommendations were those contained in the report of the committee on emergency measures by manufacturers. These were understood to include rotation of labor, the shortened week and partial employment as a program for increasing the number of employed.

The committee also was said to favor an appeal to producers, manufacturers and dealers to absorb as rapidly as possible any price changes. The committee on community and civic relief measures was understood to have recommended the appointment of special committees by the mayors of all cities to handle the unemployment problem locally.

had voted its disapproval of the increases which were said to have been twice as large as authorized. This was denied by defenders of the officers, who said the salary advances were in the same proportion as wage increases received by the miners.

than 200 letters dropped out, all containing marked ballots on Referendum No. 4, which is underway for the purpose of finding out how the 1200 members of the chamber feel about the purchase of the Lowell Gas Light Co.'s business and running it as a municipal place of property.

Replies are coming in by every mail. Mr. Wells considered the total reported this noon as being highly satisfactory indeed, considering the fact that the referendum ballots were only mailed yesterday noon. No one at headquarters, however, expects a complete ballot but it is expected that some idea may be obtained on the feeling among leading members of the chamber on the municipal proposition.

FUNERALS

CARLAND—The funeral of Miss Annie N. Carland took place today at 8:30 o'clock from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carland, 17 Second street, and was largely attended. A funeral high mass was celebrated in St. Michael's church at 9 o'clock by Rev. Thomas J. Litchman. The church choir sang the Gregorian chant, the soloists were Miss Margaret Griffin and Mr. Thomas P. Boulger. Mrs. Ella Reilly Toys was the organist. The burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, where Rev. Thomas J. Litchman read the burial services. The bearers were John Cashman, John Tweed, James Mullin and Harry McCormick. The funeral was in charge of Undertakers Charles H. Molloy's Sons.

HELD FOR THEFT OF $4100

CONCORD, N.H., Sept. 30.—John Chamberlain, night clerk at the local office of the American Railway Express Co., said by the police to have admitted the theft of $4100 from the safe in the company's office, early last Saturday morning, was arraigned today in municipal court. He waived examination, pleaded not guilty, and was held under bonds of $4000.

SEEK AGREEMENT ON RATIFICATION VOTE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—A definite effort was expected to be made in the senate today to reach an agreement for a vote on ratification of the peace treaties with Germany, Austria and Hungary on Oct. 14 or 15. The agreement was put forward yesterday by Senator Lodge, after democratic senators in caucus had declared against night sessions for considering the treaties, and it was said to have the approval of all factions.

SUN ADVERTISEMENT BRINGS BIG CROWD

a questionable doubt its great advertising value. When a crowd of several hundred women stormed the entrance to the Rogers company store at 101 Central street, two hours before a big receivers' sale was scheduled to begin this morning, Samuel Savitt, of the Savitt Sales Service, who is conducting the sale, as he looked at the steadily increasing number of bargain hunters, smiled broadly, sighed with satisfaction and exclaimed: "It will be a great sale. The advertisement in The Sun last evening has cer-

ELABORATE CEREMONY

Gen. Pershing to Place Medal on Tomb of Unknown French Soldier on Sunday

PARIS, Sept. 30. (By the Associated Press.)—The French government has arranged one of the most elaborate and impressive ceremonies since the armistice for next Sunday morning, when General Pershing will place the medal of honor voted by the United States congress, on the tomb of the unknown soldier of France.

The plans include an extensive military review of all the chief branches of the French army, to be led by a composite battalion from the American forces in Germany. The battalion, which has undergone rigid training for the event, will arrive in Paris with General Pershing tomorrow.

President Millerand, Premier Briand, Marshal Foch, members of the cabinet, the senate and chamber of deputies, and nearly all the French military leaders who are now in France will participate in the ceremony at the grave of the unknown soldier.

lately brought out the largest crowd of bargain seekers I have ever seen at the opening of a sale before and I've conducted quite a few. Do Sun advertisements bring results? I'll say they do. Just look at this crowd and then judge for yourself.

That was a tribute, a most fitting one, paid The Sun by a man long in experience in affairs of that sort by virtue of the many sales he has conducted both here and in cities throughout the east.

The women, anxious to enter the store and avail themselves of the bargain offerings they had read about in The Sun advertising columns, over-crowded the sidewalk and finally poured out into the street. Then to keep order and system the front door was shut and opened only at intervals as shoppers who had been crowded leaving with armfuls of goods by a rear exit. There wasn't the slightest hitch noticeable throughout the sale.

Again tomorrow people of Lowell and surrounding districts will have the opportunity of obtaining some real values at Rogers.

U. S. AMBASSADOR

Warren Discusses Arms Conference Before American Japan Society at Tokio

TOKIO, Sept. 29 (By the Associated Press.)—The coming Washington conference said Charles B. Warren, the American ambassador, in speaking at a dinner given in his honor by the American-Japan society last night, would be a conference by common consent among sovereign states, a conference to remove the United States was not seeking to impose its will.

"The president," said Ambassador Warren, "is rather seeking a frank discussion with a view to bringing about a concrete result, a declaration of principles by the nations participating which in their practical application, will prevent a clash of conflicting interests and remove the causes for armament."

"The way to bring about the permanent limitation of armament," continued the ambassador, "is permanently to remove the reasons for armament. It will not do to meet and say they must limit armament and preserve peace. There should emerge from the conference a concrete basis for limiting armament."

R. R. DEEDS LAND TO U. S. AS A GIFT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—President Harding has accepted and added to the Muir woods national monument in California 125 acres of land, the gift of former Representative and Mrs. William Kent of that state and from the Muir woods and Mount Tamalpais railroad. "This is probably the first instance on record," the National Park Service said today, "of a railroad donating land to the United States as a gift."

The Muir Woods, a notable grove of redwood trees, became the property of the United States in 1905 when President Roosevelt accepted 25 acres from Mr. and Mrs. Kent and proclaimed the area a national monument. It is located on the south slope of Mount Tamalpais about seven miles across the bay from San Francisco.

NEW ENGLAND ROTARY CLUBS

POLAND SPRING, Me., Sept. 30.—The second day of the convention of the New England Rotary clubs was held with a novel breakfast under the direction of the Houlton and Biddeford-Saco Rotary clubs. The first thing that greeted the eye was a huge potato, the Houlton delegates having brought 125 of them from that city. An immense balloon, with the word "Houlton" upon it in gold, was suspended above the tables. John P. Deering of Saco, was master of ceremonies, and the breakfast was embellished by many novelties. In the course of the breakfast the top of an immense mechanical potato flew open and William Fullerton, secretary of the Houlton club, stepped out. He led the chorus singing.

POLAND'S REPLY REACHES MOSCOW

MOSCOW, Sept. 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—Poland's reply to the request of the Soviet government for an extension of the ultimatum threatening a severance of diplomatic relations from Oct. 1 to Oct. 5, was received here today. The reply is so worded that it is thought here relations will not be severed.

While Poland has not officially granted the extension asked, nor formally announced that relations will not be broken off after Oct. 1, it is generally assumed in official circles in Moscow that negotiations over fulfillment of the Riga peace treaty, will be prolonged indefinitely, without an open break.

MAN INDICTED FOR KILLING FOUR PERSONS

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Sept. 30.—Emil Schutte, a firekeeper in Hadam, was twice indicted for murder by the Middlesex county grand jury yesterday, in the first bill he being charged with having killed by shooting Joseph Ball, Mrs. Mary Ball, the wife, and Jacob, aged 17, a son, and also by setting fire to the house in which they lived. The second bill accused Schutte of having killed his farmhand, Denis La Due, by shooting, and then of destroying the body by fire.

The crime alleged in the first indictment is said to have been committed on the night of Dec. 10, 1915. The farmhand disappeared about April 24, 1916.

Schutte has been in jail several months, and has at no time, according to the father, showed any worry over his plight. He retained counsel whom he recently discharged, and one of whom he has since asked to take up the case. The man was arrested on complaint of a son who claimed that his father had threatened his mother and had chased her from home, gun in hand.

Statements said to have been made by the children, most of whom are adults, led to an inquiry by the state police. They learned of La Due's disappearance after a dispute with Schutte. The police found bones in the ashes of a bonfire in a nearby woodlot. A young son peering in a shed window claims to have seen the

The house in which the Ball family lived, close by the Schutte place, was thought by neighbors at the time to have caught fire from a stove. Schutte is said by the police to have had a land boundary dispute with the Balls. The bodies, it is understood, were exhumed during the inquiry and the state alleges that Schutte shot the three Balls as they attempted to escape from the burning house.

Schutte has understood that he was being held for trial on the complaint involving his troubles with Mrs. Schutte and one of the sons, who protected her on various occasions.

The accused will be put to plea next Wednesday.

(Special to The Sun.)

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—Gov. Cox has recently received from the mayor of Lowell a statement as to unemployment conditions in Lowell. The statement was in answer to a request from the governor, sent to all town and city officials, as well as county commissioners, for information as to what was being done to relieve the unemployment situation.

Lowell's reply was "The city this year appropriated more money than ever before for its street and sewer construction and is erecting two very expensive buildings, all of which was done with one thought in mind—to care for the unemployed." HOYT.

POLICE CHIEF AND TWO SONS ARRESTED

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 30.—State policemen yesterday afternoon went to New Britain police headquarters and arrested Sgt. Andrew J. Richardson, chief of the New Britain police detective force, and his sons, Andrew J., Jr., and Wallace Richardson. They were immediately taken in separate automobiles to this city, where Superior Court Judge Wolfe of New Haven, who has issued bench warrants, held them in a total of $80,000 bail on the technical charge of receiving and concealing stolen automobiles.

They were remanded into the custody of the county sheriff while Attorney P. F. McDonough of New Britain tried to raise the bail of $50,000 for the father and $15,000 for each of the sons.

State Police Supt. Robert T. Hurley was in conference yesterday with State Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn and the arrest of Richardson followed soon after Mr. Hurley's departure.

The bench warrant on which Richardson and his sons were arrested charges them with receiving automobiles, knowing them to have been stolen.

The maximum penalty for such a crime is 10 years. The warrant was requested by State's Attorney Alcorn.

It is stated that a touring car stolen in New York was found about a month ago on the farm in Newton owned by Wallace Richardson, the sergeant's son. Recovery of the car was made through the underwriters'

ANOTHER DEER ISLAND PRISONER ESCAPES

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—With the disappearance of Thomas Shayne, 32 years old, from the county house of correction at Deer Island, admitted yesterday, it is believed the third prisoner has escaped from the institution in less than two weeks.

Shayne's disappearance follows quickly on the heels of the escape of Otto E. Chapman and Edward P. Wells on Sept. 15, which led to the abolition of the prisoners' Mutual Welfare League and a written reprimand by Institutions Commissioner Thomas C. O'Brien for George M. Harlow, master of the prison.

Despite the fact that officers on the island believed that Shayne had not escaped from its confines, Master Harlow reported last night that they had been unable to locate the prisoner. Every inch of the island was thoroughly combed yesterday afternoon. He was first reported missing at the mid-day check of prisoners, and nearby cities were notified to keep a close watch for him. Shayne was assigned to the laundry at the island and was not a trusty. He had served half of a one-year sentence for larceny.

At the time of Wells' and Chapman's escape, it was reported that Commissioner O'Brien would ask for Master Harlow's resignation, but a written reprimand was the result. The two men escaped in the midst of an investigation of affairs at the prison being conducted by the commissioner.

A detective agency of New York following the investigation by Detective Coleman of New York.

This happened about the time Sgt. Richardson made public the fact that two other cars were found in the possession of Dr. Mendel Volkenhelm of New Britain and a touring car was located in the possession of Jake Winkie, of that city, a brother of Louis Winkie, the real estate broker found murdered.

Dr. Volkenhelm told the police he lost $4000 because he was unfortunate enough to buy the stolen cars. He surrendered one car to the police, but succeeded in making an adjustment with the owners by which he retained the other machine. The detectives reported that the cars were used for run-running purposes.

GRANGE FIELD DAY IN WEST ANDOVER

President William M. Wood of the American Woolen Co. has promised to be one of the principal speakers at the Grange field day in West Andover next Wednesday. Plans for the annual fair have been completed. The events will be held at the opening of the American Woolen Co.'s farms off Lowell road, West Andover, and the object is to further the agricultural interests of the Andover villages and surrounding towns.

Great interest is being exhibited in the day's program, and it is expected that some of the finest farm products ever shown at any other grange fair, will be offered for exhibition purposes Wednesday. There will be attractive exhibits also from the Farm Bureau, the Junior club, the extension department of the County Agricultural school and similar organizations.

Among other speakers at the afternoon exercises besides the guest of honor, Mr. Wood, will be A. W. Gilbert, state commissioner of agriculture; John D. Willard, director of the state agricultural extension service; C. W. Barton, of the Boston News Bureau, and Theodore H. Price, editor of Commerce and Finance.

The day's program will open at 9 o'clock and from that hour to 4 o'clock, the judging of livestock by Professor Salisbury will be the feature; a poultry killing and culling demonstration will be given under the direction of Prof. J. S. Carver from 10 o'clock until 10:45; from 10:45 to 11:30, Prof. J. B. Abbott will take up New England crop management, and the home use of no subject will be presented by Mrs. Clifton Johnson. At 11:30, Leslie Smith, manager of the state grange, will give a story of the organization's work.

NO ADDITIONAL VOTING PRECINCT

An additional voting precinct to ward 5 in the Middlesex Village section will be impossible this year because the state law says no precinct changes will be made after July 1.

This was handed down by the board of election commissioners. At a recent meeting the Lincoln club voted to ask the mayor to create a fourth precinct created in ward 5 because precinct 1 of that ward has more than 2000 voters. It is possible the change will be made in another year, according to Chairman Hugh C. McOsker of the election commission.

Printing Pressmen's novelty dance at the Kasino last evening, when the amateur dancing championship of Lowell was awarded to Master Andrew and Miss Marie Carr. The contest was one of the best ever held in the Kasino. The contestants were none of them more than 15 years of age and there was great rivalry for first honors. In addition to the prize contest, songs by Thomas Carlin made a big hit and a novelty dance by Manne.

Diaz also delighted the pressmen's guests. The committee in charge of the entertainment included Timothy J. Linehan, general manager; J. D. Starr, assistant; John Ahearn, floor director; G. E. Hird, treasurer. They were ably assisted by Daniel Sullivan, Harry Jones, James H. Price and James A. Flynn.

EMPLOYERS SHOULD CARE FOR SICK

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—Industrial workers in ill health should be cared for by their employers, F. M. Wilcox, chairman of the Wisconsin Industrial commission, declared before the general session of the National Safety Council here yesterday. Spirited discussion followed his statement, delegates taking issue with him from all parts of the floor.

Mr. Wilcox asserted that diseases of occupation come on "stealthily like a sneak thief," unknown to the worker. The employer should be protected against them, and legislation should be so explicit that no doubt would remain about the worker's position with reference to such protection, he said. Opposition to Mr. Wilcox's suggestion included assertions that it would be unfair to expect the employer to pay for medical treatment of the worker, and that fraudulent "sickness representations" might threaten to swamp him.

costliness, accompanied by corresponding inflation of currency and production.

A peace equally unprecedented in its ill effects and in the deplorable discrepancy between professed aims and actual performance.

Governmental incapacity, neglect and blundering.

Excessive expansion, overtrading and lack of foresight on the part of a considerable portion of the business community.

Exorbitant boosting of the cost of labor and stubborn insistence, in some instances, upon conditions not normally tolerable.

Governmental and private extravagances.

Tax System of 1917

But there is one element which, more than any other single cause, has stood and still stands in the way of our economic recovery. That is the improvident, dissipated and mischievous system of taxation adopted in 1917.

Leaving aside its appalling complexity, its irritating and obnoxious cumbersomeness, the unfairness of its incidence, and its manifold, actual and moral impediments to effort and enterprise, it has produced two effects of fundamental destructiveness:

It has prevented the accumulation of new capital, and it has violently interfered with the normal flow of existing capital.

Capital has been driven from the highways of trade because the government "lies in wait and exacts a huge toll going up to three-quarters of the wayfarer's income, blithely unmindful, too, of the fact that there is another way called "tax-exempt securities" which is not only safer, smoother and less laborious to travel, but is entirely free from toll.

For this throttling of the supply of capital for construction uses we have chosen the very time when we were most in need of an ample supply of funds, because European capital on which we had largely drawn before the war, is no longer available to us owing to the effects of the war—indeed, Europe, instead of being a provider of capital, has become a eager borrower here—and because the process of readjusting our industries to peace conditions and bringing our productive capacity in line with post-bellum requirements and opportunities, involves a very heavy capital drain.

Adversity and hardships have come upon the farmer, as they have come or cannot fail to come, in a greater or less degree, upon every element in the community in the painful economic process through which the country is passing.

The farmer is gravely discontented and under a sense of grievance with the existing order of things. His just grievances call for immediate, intelligent consideration and for effective redress.

If that redress can only be made effective by methods which are new and somewhat unpalatable to the established ways of business, then the less important will have to yield to the most important, i. e., business convenience and customs to the true welfare of the farming industry.

Labor

It hardly needs affirmation that in the difficult process of adjusting our affairs from an artificial and highly inflated basis to a true and normal one, labor cannot be left uncared for or otherwise, have come to recognize that fact.

We are all beneficiaries of one another's prosperity, and it hardly needs arguing to prove that it is in the best interest of the employer, even from the merely selfish point of view, not to pay the lowest wages to which labor can be squeezed down, but rather

the highest wages compatible with the successful conduct of his business and with keeping his product at reasonable cost.

By the same token, it is in the interest of the worker to be an efficient producer and not to slacken on the job.

Terrell complained he received a threatening letter, but instead of receiving assurances of protection from the detective chief, that official informed Terrell that the residents of Washington are opposed to his organization.

BOY SHOT WHILE IN GRAPE ARBOR

GREENFIELD, Sept. 30.—Francis Flynn, a boy of 14 years, was shot while in the grape arbor of Frank Frizzell, a local builder, last night, and today was said to be in a critical condition at the Franklin county hospital. Frizzell, troubled by thefts from his grapevine, he told the police, fired several shots from his revolver when he heard a noise in the arbor last night. Flynn was found on the ground a few minutes later, shot through the left lung. Frizzell said he had fired high intending only to frighten those whom he thought were raiding his vines. The authorities announced that he would be charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, and, in the event of the boy's death, would be charged with manslaughter.

MILL OUTLET STORES COMPANY

48 Bridge Street Opposite Keith's Theatre

Opening Saturday of a New Idea Store

In our preliminary announcement of the opening of this new store, we made great promises and now we are ready to back them up—Make us.

The opening of this store brings our mills to your very door and every advantage there—too—our mills are the largest in the East making the finest fabrics known—weaving, converting and printing. SELLING DIRECT TO USER, SAVING A JOBBER'S PROFIT AND ONE-HALF OF THE RETAILER'S. Our chain of stores are all operated from one head with a very small overhead expense charged to the individual store—no elaborate fixtures and always out of the high rent district, we make it worth your while to walk, yes, pay carfare, if necessary. We welcome comparison. Competition we have none. Our motto: You must be satisfied first, last and all the time.

Everything in Cotton Woven Materials—Remnants—Short lengths—part pieces and discontinued lines from leading mills, well known to you if names could be used. The savings are wonderful; we pay you well for every extra step you take.

We Cut to Your Measure, Whether Remnant or Full Pieces, If a Suitable Length Remains.

TWO SISTERS DROWNED

Boston Women Lose Lives in Canoe Uset—Companions Reach Shore

GREENFIELD, Sept. 30.—Mrs. Alice Johnson of this city and Mrs. Bertha McDermott of Boston, sisters, were drowned in the Connecticut river near Turner's Falls by the overturning of a canoe, early today. Wallace Cadran and Edward Letourneau of Turner's Falls, who were with the women managed to reach the shore but were unable to save their companions.

REGISTRATION AT TEXTILE SCHOOL

Although official figures on the registration for the evening classes of the Lowell Textile school which took place last evening, could not be obtained because at noon today all departments had not yet sent in their registration cards to the business office, it was learned that about 40 per cent. had registered. This number is about the same as that of the first registration night last year, but it is expected that this year's attendance at the school will be the largest ever. The evening classes will open Monday evening, October 16, but registration will close next Thursday night when another session will be held from 7 to 9 o'clock.

TO BE SWORN IN AS PROBATION OFFICER

Joseph L. Cronin will be sworn in as probation officer of the local district court tomorrow morning and will immediately succeed Edward J. Slattery, who, after twenty-one years of faithful service, retires from public life under a ruling of the civil service commission which sets seventy years as the age limit for employees under its jurisdiction.

The oath of office will be administered by Judge Thomas J. Enright and it will be an informal affair, the justice told The Sun today. The ceremony will be conducted in the judge's private office prior to the opening of court session. Mr. Cronin will assume Mr. Slattery's duties immediately after.

Probation Officer Slattery, when queried as to his plans for the future, replied that he thought he would lead a quiet and restful life and take a much needed vacation.

Court and police associates of Mr. Slattery were very anxious of showing their esteem and respect in the form of a fitting tribute today, but when force it was predicted.

plans of the affair reached the veteran officer's ears, he voiced strenuous objections and as a result all arrangements had to be abandoned.

STORM WARNING

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The weather bureau today gave warning of a southwest storm from Cape Henry, Va., to Eastport, Me.

A disturbance of marked intensity central over the Great Lakes was moving eastward. Strong southwest winds would shift to west and north-west tonight and increase to gale force it was predicted.

FOR REHABILITATION OF Tanlac Accomplishes RUSSIA

BERLIN, Sept. 30. (The Associated Press.)—American, English and German banking interests have begun negotiations looking toward co-operation in the rehabilitation of Russia through the financing of industrial enterprises in the soviet republic, according to information which has reached interested commercial circles here.

The proposed assistance would not be based upon a recognition of the present government of Russia, but would be extended "with the conviction" that the Russian government would respect any contracts which might be made, one of the representatives of a London house, which is promoting the movement, declared. He added that negotiations were begun only "after it was established that the soviet government was no longer 'red,' but had swung to the right, and was aiming at something essentially the same as the goal of other republic nations."

The Russian government is understood to have been informed of the purpose of the American, English and German interests and to have been told frankly there was no intention at this time of making Russia a fourth party to the contract, but only the object of "a solicited and profitable movement."

The Russians are believed to have taken it for granted that the international bankers were planning "a benevolent exploitation" of Russia, which would not only yield them profit, but would help stabilize the uncertain economic situation there.

Certain Russians here who have displayed lively interest in these negotiations assert there is a possibility they will succeed regardless of whether the present Russian government stands or falls, although it is admitted that at this time the only results of the movement has been to secure the promise of a number of individual but strong banking houses in each of the three countries to support the plan if good evidence is offered that the soviet government will give the foreign financiers free hand.

A number of foreign banks and particularly English concerns already have placed large sums at the disposal of the Russians and also have sold them much merchandise in many instances extending credit for as long as five years," said a German industrialist who is interested in numerous Russian movements.

Other foreign concerns have flatly declined to have any commerce with the Russian soviet and the actions of these concerns have been widely advertised. The fact of the matter is, and many financiers see it, that whether the present Russian government prevails or not, vast fortunes are waiting in Russia for the men who ultimately must develop the country's latent resources, as well as rehabilitate the present run-down industries.

A Russian refugee here, once wealthy and a member of the old regime, not daring to return while the soviets are in power, nevertheless has decided to devote his efforts to promoting plans to "exploit" Russia at long range, hoping to "share in the profits that will later make many Rockefellers of Russia."

"I know Russia and I know the Russians and I understand what kind of a government exists there now," this man declared. "This government, which has prevailed notwithstanding prophecies of its downfall every month for the last four years, will not be immediately overthrown, but gradually will give way, as it has been giving

Remarkable Results In Geo. H. Nickels' Case

Prominent Wisconsin Man
Says Tanlac Promptly Relieved Him of Bad Case of Stomach Trouble of Six Months' Standing—Gains 27 Pounds and Feels Fine As a Fiddle

GEORGE H. NICKELS

It is an unquestionable fact that Tanlac is now being more widely endorsed by well known men and women than any other medicine on the American market. One of the latest to testify is George H. Nickels, well known lecturer, residing at 227 Wells st., Milwaukee, Wis.

"Tancelac has not only completely restored my health, but I have actually gained 27 pounds in weight," said Mr. Nickels in referring to the remarkable benefits he had derived from the medicine.

"For something over six months, my stomach was very badly disordered. I suffered terribly from indigestion and dyspepsia. At times I would be in great distress and I would invariably experience an uncomfortable bloated feeling for hours after eating. I had no appetite scarcely and the little I ate would often make me deathly sick. My head ached until I felt like it would burst and I was so nervous I trembled like a leaf. When I got up in the mornings, I was so weak and dizzy, I couldn't trust myself to walk around and I just hurt all over."

"Tancelac has brought about a wonderful change in my condition for I am now enjoying the very best of health. My appetite is splendid. I relish my meals. Everything agrees with me perfectly. The nervousness, headaches and dizzy spells are all gone and I never have an ache or pain. I am only too glad to tell others about the wonderful

Tancelac and Tanlac Vegetable Pills are sold in Lowell by Green's Drug Store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; A. D. Falls, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass. and by the leading druggists in every town.—Adv.

LEGIONERS TO TAKE GOOD CARE OF REPORTERS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 30.—Accommodations for correspondents, representing the biggest newspapers, magazines and news distribution agencies in the country will be provided during the convention of the American Legion here Oct. 31-Nov. 2. The plan devised by the convention executive committee calls for a press-box the entire length of the stage, with a passage leading under the speakers' stand to a press room where typewriters will be provided, together with multi-graph machines and operators at specially installed telegraph keys.

Newspapermen, provided with cards that vouch for their credentials, may go freely back and forth from the press box to the press room. Stenographic reports of the convention proceedings will be transcribed in "takes" which will be turned over to the American Legion news service desk, where the copy will be edited down to what might interest the newspaper writer. The edited copy will be sent, a page at a time, to the multi-graph machine beneath the stage, where it will be stencilled and multi-graphed, and the copies sent back to the press box, to be distributed to the news correspondents.

Under the plan an adequate running story of the proceedings will reach the press box on an average of 20 minutes behind actual happenings on the convention floor, according to Chester T. Start, chairman of publicity.

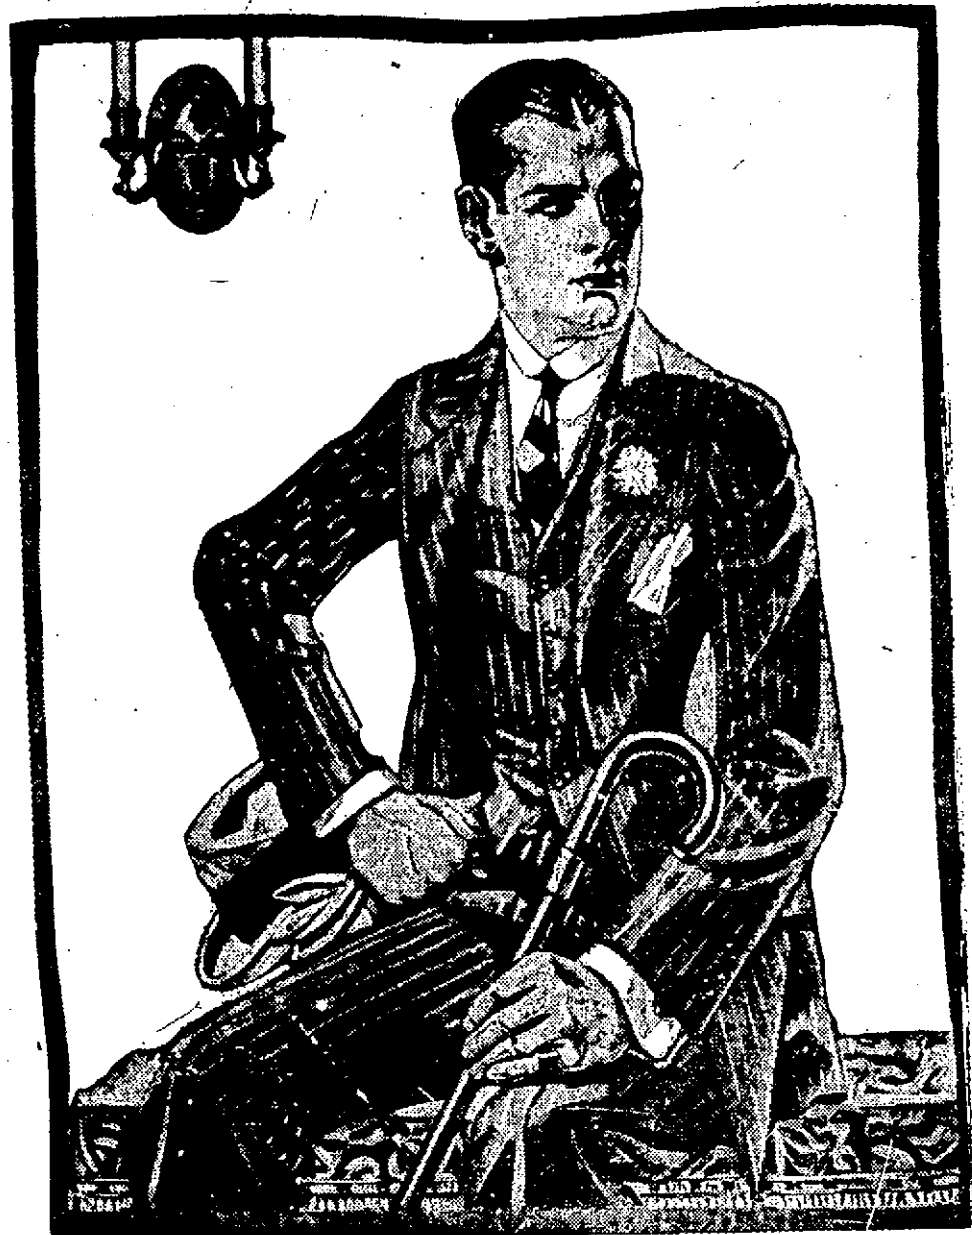

PROMINENT MEN TO ADDRESS RED CROSS

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 30.—The National Red Cross convention which will convene in this city on Oct. 4 and last five days, bids fair to be the most important of these gatherings that has ever been held, even of more significance from Red Cross viewpoint than the meetings held during the great war.

Men and women prominent in all walks of life are on the program to deliver addresses to the delegates. Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the central committee of the American Red Cross and president of Cornell university, will preside at a meeting Oct. 4, when Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of Ohio State university will deliver the address of welcome. Governor Harry J. Davis of Ohio and Mayor James J. Thomas of Columbus will welcome the delegates for the city and state. President Harding is expected to be the principal speaker.

Dr. Henry Noble McCracken, president of Vassar college will preside at the Junior Red Cross meeting in the afternoon of Oct. 5. "The Challenge of Childhood in America to the Red Cross" is the subject on which Miss Chari Williams, of the National Educational association, will speak. Dr. W. W. Marquart, educational agent for the Philippine Islands in the United States, will address the convention on "The Juniors at Work in Our Insular Possessions." Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, will speak on "The Challenge of Childhood in Foreign Lands and What Junior Red Cross is Doing There." Sen. Charles McNary of Ohio is to deliver an address on "The Future of the Nation and Citizenship Training."

The evening meeting dedicated to America's Obligation to Her Service Men and Women will be presided over by Dr. Farrand and ten minute speeches will be delivered by such notables as Dr. Thomas E. Green, director of the speakers' bureau of the American Red Cross; Major General LeMay, U. S. Marine corps; Rev. Francis P. Duffy, chaplain 16th regiment; Mrs. Frank V. Hammar, chairman St. Louis chapter; Miss Theodora Roosevelt, well known secretary of the navy; Rabbi Stephen Wise, Free Synagogue of New York; W. Frank Parsons, vice chairman in charge of domestic operations, American Red Cross; John G. Emery, national commander, American Legion; and Gen. John J. Pershing. Robert S. Gast, chairman of the Red Cross relief committee of Pueblo, Colorado, will address the convention on

TWO NEW STRIDES IN FRENCH AVIATION

Simultaneous completion in Toulouse, France, of a giant limousine airplane designed to carry twenty passengers from Toulouse to Casablanca, Morocco, in 12-hour non-stop flights, and of a fleet of aluminum planes specially constructed to carry freight and serve as "freighters," marks two new strides in French aviation.

The passenger plane, said to be the largest yet constructed in Europe, carries three motors totaling 1600 horsepower and is fitted up as comfortably as an American parlor car.

It is especially equipped with new modern safety devices to enable it to fly by night without added danger. The aluminum planes, known as "trucks of the air," carry an extra motor and two spare propellers. Whenever a pilot in the Franco-Morocco service telegraphs that his plane has been disabled, one of the air "trucks" goes to the rescue. The new planes have been built in the factory of G. Latécoere, Toulouse headquarters of the Latécoere air service between France and Morocco.

"We plan to extend our service within a year, on the east to Algiers, on the south to Dakar," Pierre G. Latécoere, director of the service, has announced. "Within five years we hope to be sending daily planes, with freight mail and passengers, from France to South America, by way of Africa."

Australia is building a 112-mile water power line from Victoria Falls to Melbourne.

Lowell High Football Team Will Meet Nashua High at Nashua Tomorrow

Lowell high school's football team will dash forth on the steaming grid tomorrow in a game to be played with Nashua high school in the latter's ballfield. For a number of years past this has been the opening game for the red and black and each year the local representatives have given a good account of themselves. It is expected this year will be no exception to the rule.

When Coach Eddie Cawley says the word "go" the team will dash forth on the grid tomorrow in a game to be played with Nashua high school in the latter's ballfield. For a number of years past this has been the opening game for the red and black and each year the local representatives have given a good account of themselves. It is expected this year will be no exception to the rule.

The year's eleven will toe the white chalk lines in the seven of last year's veterans available. Two of the remaining four positions have been filled by second string men, while the other two have been given to newcomers to the squad.

Consequently Coach Cawley has a pretty hefty foundation for a successful eleven this season.

While a lineup has been decided upon, it is more or less tentative and no player is actually secured in his position. With 60-odd men fighting hard to displace any of the chosen ones the regulars realize they must fight hard and be ready to jump in all the way to keep from being displaced.

The team is a mite handicapped by the fact that scrimmages have been held, but this has been more on account of the warm weather.

For tomorrow's game, Holt of last year's team and Brownie, a newcomer, have been decided upon as the two mainstays of the team. Holt is a good runner and a good blocker, while Brownie is a good blocker and a good runner.

At the tackle positions Sullivan and Winters will hold forth. Sully played on last season's eleven and demonstrated himself as a good defensive and offensive player. Winters was on the second team last fall and just missed making a berth with the varsity eleven. He is a good blocker and has the earmarks of a good player.

Aside of Sullivan and Winters, McManis and Brownie have been decided upon to start as guards. The former played with the seconds last season while the latter was one of the regulars. Both are husky, fast boys, and should take care of thrusts at the center of the line in good shape.

McAdams will look after the pivotal berth again this year. He is a good heavy snapper back and seldom if ever mixes signals. The responsibility of a center is great in these days of open and tricky football. The found it necessary to call out Bush, a newcomer with the Mackneds that season, and a pitcher who had only one year of minor league experience. He had spent 1912 with the Mission (Mont.) team.

LESLIE BUSH—ATHLETIC ROOKIE
LET THE GIANTS DOWN WITH FIVE HITS IN THE 1915 SERIES

Bush worked like a vet, opposing Jeff Tesreau, holding the Giants to give him a chance to deliver. He was the only Mack pitcher out there for the Sox.

George, a substitute third baseman for the White Sox, joined the team at the tail end of the 1915 season, playing as substitute at intervals during 1916.

Ordinarily a weak hitter, Roche, in the 1916 World Series, pounded out a triple in the fifth inning of the first game that enabled the White Sox to win 2 to 1, and put him on the hot corner regularly for the balance of the series.

Again in the third game of the series, Roche came up with a bases full in the sixth. King, the Cub catcher, warned him as he approached that he needn't expect another straight high ball, the kind he had soaked out before. Roche hunched that King was trying to work him for a fast strike. His was right. The first ball was a strike, and high by running.

Roche pounded it to the right field for his second triple of the series, cleaning the bases and sewing up the game for the Sox.

George Whitman, a veteran player who spent years in obscure minor leagues and who begged in vain for his chance in the big show, finally got it in 1918, too late in life to be of great advantage to him.

Whitman, thrown into the Red Sox club in 1918, showed the value of Boston's short handedness, proved the hero of the series.

When the first game with his hitting, getting two runs, one home run, in the third game he robbed Duke Baskett of what was ticketed for a home run, by a seemingly impossible catch in the left field.

Whitman saved the day by his timely hitting and turning a double play in the eighth inning.

Joe Sewell is another rookie who was yanked out of college into national fame. After Ray Chapman's injury and death in 1920, this Spangler of the Indians surprised everybody by sending for Sewell, on whom he had a string, and setting the boy to work in the big show.

At the University of Alabama to finish the season with the Redskins, Sewell, to the surprise of everybody except Spangler, came through in fine shape and his timely hitting and turning a double play in the eighth inning.

For two weeks the Indians under the direction of Wilhelm, have engaged in practice sessions and those who have watched the preliminary workouts, aver that the westerner is "the best" in all departments of the game.

He has many tricks, unknown to local followers of the game, and has imparted much valuable information to his teammates. He will undoubtedly demand the attention of many on the sidelines.

For their opening game the Indians will meet the fast Rockville club, an aggregation that has not met defeat in two seasons. The team played here a year ago against the Indians and a tie resulted. Both clubs are out to break the knot and each will present its strongest lineup.

In addition to Wilhelm the Indians will have about all the stars of former years, with the exception of Lynch, who is no longer available, and who will also have Mule and Smith available for mound duty.

The Indians will hold a practice session tonight.

Cincinnati Shows a New One in Bucking

CINCINNATI, Sept. 30.—Back in the good old days of ambulances, the only way a coach thought he could condition a football squad was by hitting them up with beef and teaching them the art of kicking each other in the slats.

The twentieth century coach looks upon beef as a handicap and the training is as scientific as the trick plays.

These scientists are yearly perfecting new training methods.

The gridlers at the University of Cincinnati this season are training with a "bucking strap."

It is expected to make the players more proficient at carrying the ball, strengthen shoulder muscles, and at the same time develop a couple of snappy tacklers.

Handles on the strap enable two players to hold back the man with the ball while he does his best to advance.

Lowell football followers will be given an opportunity Sunday afternoon out at Spalding park to give "Dutch" Wilhelm, formerly of Thorpe's Canton Bull Dogs, the once over, for the highly touted grilliron star, will make his local debut on that day as a member of the Indians.

Fast Steppers Entered For the Lowell Driving Club's Big Races On Columbus Day

Although the cream of the half-mile track horses will be travelling toward Brockton in another week, there will be plenty of crack travellers outside the big rings waiting for the opening bell at Golden Cove, Columbus Day, when the Lowell Driving club winds up its racing season with one of the biggest list of entries ever tackled up on the show cards.

Lewis Clark, active member of the general committee in charge of the horse events, is delighted with some of the new entries. He expects a grand field of fully to racing animals, with more than 100 coming in from Lowell stables.

Two pacers, Nance and Elling P., entered in the Brockton fair lists, are coming direct from that show to Lowell for Columbus Day work. With records of 2:15 and 2:19, they ought to show something.

Mayor White of Lawrence will show three animals built for speed. Two new campaigners are coming along, and they will make a good team.

McGraw Wins His Seventh Pennant

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—By winning his seventh pennant for the New York National League club, Manager John J. McGraw, tops all other managers in the number of championships. He was tied at six with Manager Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics until he piloted the 1921 Giants out in front. The Giants won their first National league pennant under McGraw in 1907. They repeated the next year when they won their only world's championship. They also won the league title in 1911, 1912, 1913 and 1917.

FOYE WILL STAND PAT ON LINEUP

Manager Foye of the Centralville baseball team intends to stand pat on his lineup for the thrilling game of the series scheduled with the Lawrence K. of C. in Lawrence tomorrow afternoon.

The local team demonstrated last Saturday it possessed a much stronger outfit than the down river nine and Manager Foye is not looking to break up a winning combination at this late date.

A banner crowd including a large delegation from Lowell is expected to be present at the game. The Lowell routers are wanted for the contest and want to see the local outfit come back with the third game of the series tucked safely in the old baggage.

SOCCER NOTES
The following players are requested to report at the Bunting park: Mass. Second lineup with Lew. Souza, goal; Whitely and Kestrew, backs; Gough, Turnbull, Young, halfbacks; Murray, Taylor, Mahony, forwards; and Duffy, forwards. Meet at 1:15.

"BILL DUFFY" SINK GAMES
The three "high lines," a 115-125-lb. class football eleven have organized a snappy team for the coming season.

They are out to win the championship of Lowell. Last Sunday afternoon they defeated the Monarchs by the score of 21 to 0. They would like to hear from the White Stars, Try-a-Doughnuts, Wampanoags, Sprague's Pets, Stacks, Peas, Butter Buds, and any football team of its weight in and around Lowell.

The team is picked from the following stars: Burke, Largent, Whelan, Ted, Prout, Hawcutt, Richardson, McCarthy, Sullivan, Seaborn, Blum, Tommy, Gannon, Linneman, Idum, Curtin, Clark and Sweeney. For challenges see Manager Largent any evening corner Agawam and Lawrence streets or answer through this paper.

CHARTER DEFECTS REMEDIED

Yesterday we told of the causes that led up to the adoption of the present charter. Today let us consider how the new instrument—our present commission charter—has worked and how its defects are to be remedied.

As related in our discussion yesterday, the new charter came in with high recommendations. The people were led to expect great things from it. For the first few years, its defects were not fully realized. Judging from the Galveston experience, everybody felt that the commission would be made up mainly of leading business or professional men. Some very capable men were chosen, of course, but the lure of the $2,500 salary for commissioners attracted men who were more or less in touch with city politics, and hence the fight for membership in the municipal council soon became so bitter, so abusive and so exciting, that few business men wanted to mix in them.

As a result, the real business men who landed in the council were few and far between. The ordinary business man would have but slight chance of success in running against a professional politician who devotes all his time to politics and has an organization behind him. Moreover, few men who have any business to look after, care to go out speech-making on the street corners or buttonholing friends and soliciting their support. Consequently, business men are barred from the municipal council as effectively as if they were ineligible.

The salary has been the cause of the bitter fight for the office of commissioner and hence in the new charter the salary of the members will be only $300.

The next glaring defect in the present charter is the very noticeable fact that the membership of the council is too small. The entire body consisted of five members and thus the desires of the city were quite frequently left in the hands of the majority made up of three men. Two heads are usually better than one, and to remedy this defect, the new charter provides a council of fifteen members, of which eight will be the majority. With that number, the various questions coming up for action should be more capably handled than by less than half the number.

Another very grave defect in the present charter lies in the fact that the legislative and administrative functions of government are vested in the same body. The council passes ordinances and performs all the legislative functions conferred upon the municipality; but in addition each member is the administrative head of one or more city departments. That is radically wrong. It is opposed to sound public policy to have any official tending away the amount of money which he himself has to spend.

All this absurdity will be remedied under the new charter, under which the council will be a purely legislative body and each department will be in charge of a competent head who will be held accountable for results. Still another defect is found in the absence of ward representation in the council. All the members are elected at large and may all reside in one ward, so far as the charter is concerned. In such a case, they might naturally spend too great a proportion of the city's money in that ward to the neglect of the others.

This very vital defect is beautifully remedied in the new charter by having each ward in the city elect one member to the municipal council to look after its interests as well as the interests of the entire city. That will furnish nine members and the other six will be elected at large. Thus the council will have a majority of members, each of whom will feel a certain degree of responsibility to the residents of a particular ward.

At this point, we may say a word on ward representation as it was applied under the old charter and as it will be under the new. The old common council of Lowell, made up of ward members, was often referred to in a sneering or sarcastic way because it had a good many political controversies; but despite that fact, it was always more loyal to the interests of the city than was the board of aldermen. Whenever a deal or a scheme was evolved to unload something on the city or to make a raid on the city treasury, as a rule it originated with the aldermen. Many young men of the common council arose to prominence as a result of the opportunities there afforded them.

Under the present charter the young men never have had a chance. It is time to use their energy and enthusiasm for the benefit of the city and to afford them the opportunity the council offers for the development of whatever talent they may possess for directing municipal affairs.

Another advantage offered by ward representation is that the ward members are well known by the people who elect them and we insist that the people do want good government; but they have great difficulty in selecting the best men because they do not know them personally. Probably not one voter in every 100 of the electorate has had any personal acquaintance of the candidates whom they have supported for commissioner. On the other hand, some of the commissioners were equally unacquainted with the voters except in the mass. Thus the ward representatives will know the people who elect them and the latter will look to their delegates to the council to serve the best interests of the ward and of the city as a whole. This change alone, will bring highly beneficial results and it will bring the people into closer touch with the government and result in a government that will more faithfully reflect the popular will, than would ever be possible under the present charter.

Other phases of the charter will be contrasted with the new instrument in subsequent articles.

ACTION AND REACTION

A relatively easy study to master is psychology—the analysis of self, the study of human nature, of man individually and in his relations with other men.

Salesmen, more than any other class, have applied and profited from psychology, which is merely a branch of the law of action and reaction which Emerson called compensation. More difficult is that greater branch of the law of compensation—philosophy, science of causes and reasons, powers and laws.

So difficult, indeed, that billions live and die between the arrival of philosophers on earth. Authentic history covers thousands of years, yet the great philosophers can be named on your fingers.

And, after all, the philosophers learn nothing except that action produces inevitable reaction, that evil eventually is punished and good rewarded.

Think back over your own life. How has the law of compensation acted in your case? How much of our punishment and reward do we get here on earth? Able minds can discuss it intelligently.

THE DYE CONTROVERSY

Col. Herman A. Metz of New York is in Germany collecting data on the German dye business with the intention of laying it before the finance committee of the senate. Although he owns a number of American dye companies, he is not in favor of an embargo on German dyes nor yet an excessive tariff. In a recent statement to a trade paper he said:

"There are certain German dyes which are excellent for the American textile trades, and which the British also acknowledge are superior; but to say that we cannot compete with Germany without a higher tariff is merely an effort to gain a monopoly for a few."

That seems to be a pretty fair statement from a man who is himself in the business of manufacturing American dyes. Better get the German article if at all in the package than in the fiber.

DISEASE GERMS

Tuberculosis death rate is high. But you wonder why it doesn't swiftly exterminate all humans, when you learn that nearly everyone at some time or other becomes infected with the tuberculosis germ. That information comes from the medical research organization of the Knights of Columbus.

The reason, most of us shake off the tuberculosis germ is because the average body normally has the power to kill invading diseases.

The great danger to health is not so much disease germs, as allowing the body, the general health, to grow weak and lose its power of resistance. If you are keeping your body healthy by fresh air, exercise and proper food, you need not worry very much over the prevalence of disease germs.

FRANCE AFRAID

France fears that Germany may have a financial crash next spring. That would wreck the indemnity program.

Rathenau, German business giant, wants to avert the crash by stopping payment of reparations in gold and delivering, instead, actual goods.

Germany cannot manufacture gold but she can manufacture enough machinery and goods to meet her payments. But such a flood of commodities would hurt manufacturing in allied countries. A war is a loss, no matter who wins.

PRINCE OF SIAM

M. Songkha graduates from Harvard and starts for home, Siam, where he is crown prince. The papers did not make a spread on that item.

But it will be important news one of these days when the king of Siam dies and the crown prince takes the throne with his head full of American ideas, which will transform Siam.

We talk about our foreign trade, but overlook the greatest export—American thought, principally democratic ideas. Declaration of Independence was the death warrant for kingship, though it has taken a long time to serve the warrant in many countries.

Judge Lazarus, who presided in the Arbuckle case, practically said that no evidence was submitted to show that the defendant had committed any crime. The fact that the comedian is held on the manslaughter charge offers but slight hope that he will be convicted.

That the pesky cigaret should have frustrated the no accident efforts of the National Safety Council and started a blaze in the headquarters at the state house, is the most unkindest cut of all.

If President Harding's disarmament conference proves unsuccessful, he cannot blame the democrats in congress, as they have declared that it is in line with their policy of reducing taxes, long advocated in their party platform.

The democratic senators merely stand upon their rights in demanding reasonable consideration in dealing with the terms and scope of the peace treaties, now up for ratification.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

One of the best liked conductors on the single-track Framingham-Lowell railroad and one who knows everybody all along the line and is particularly popular among railroad workmen and station agents, is Jack Wright, always debonair, neatly shaved and sporting his blue cap slightly askew on the right side of his graying dome. Jack sometimes wears a carnation or a white field flower in his coat lapel and with his moustache closely cropped a la Pershing, the popular ticket puncher really presents quite a picture and one that will advertise the old Now Haven road personnel right through and down the line.

Dan Hartley is another old-timer and popular on the Framingham-Lowell run. Passengers don't go clambering into the train before those who want to leave can get out—not when Dan is around. Always polite, kindly, helpful to wanderers, however, and he has a life job on the old Fall River line.

The gambling element is not heavily represented at the county fairs in this neighborhood this year. I understand that the state police officers are on the word bright and early that all members of the cappers' crowd would have to watch out. The game was lively down in Waltham, I hear, money being passed out instead of candy and dolls whenever it was demanded by the winning wheel pushers but the fair was not spotted with gamblers as was the case last year. The Acton fair in October is planning to arrest all gamblers who may appear there and who are caught in the act of working wheels or other games on a cash basis with money prizes solely.

I understand that the meeting of the state milk inspectors in Boston last Saturday did not suggest any further changes, for the present, in the laws and local regulations covering the local supply and its distribution. It was thought that some objectors to laws were neglecting to file full reports, but Lowell was found to have a handsome record and a clean bill in every respect. The local inspection service has received high praise from the eastern officials.

A recent conversation with one of our local garage proprietors brought to light a curious attitude on the part of automobile owners toward the insurance requirements. Many of those who store cars in public garages object strenuously to the rule which requires them to leave their keys in their machines as a protection in case of fire. They feel that their interests are better safeguarded by leaving their cars securely locked, and are entirely willing to assume the fire risk. An amusing circumstance in connection with this matter is that the garage men usually find the owners of the smaller and less expensive cars possessed of this peculiar perspective.

Spectators at the O. M. I. Cadet-Lawrence Games, game on the North common last Sunday, were greatly handicapped in their efforts to follow the play by the fact that at all times the scene of action was hemmed in by the crowd. This condition also made it difficult for the players as an end run or forward pass brought the player carrying or receiving the ball into collision with the crowd in every case. Roping off the playing space, as in the twilight baseball games, would add greatly to the spectators' enjoyment and enable the players to exhibit a superior brand of football.

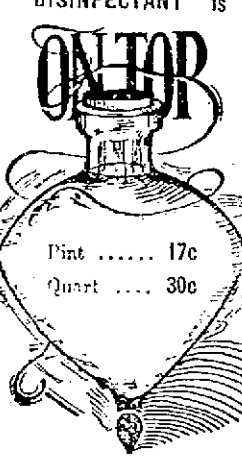

Among the petty annoyances to which our hard-working and conscientious policemen are subjected, there is probably none more irritating than the astonishing propensity of some of our residents for telephoning complaints to the station house on trivial, and often absurd grounds.

A typical illustration of this tendency occurs frequently in one of our most densely populated districts. When the officer on the beat rings his box at a certain corner, he is informed from the station that a complaint has been received in regard to a disturbance at the next corner. Upon investigation, the officer finds no trace of the alleged disturber, and can secure no information. Upon his next round, he is told that there has been another complaint from the same source, but is unable to find any trace of the malefactor. After this has occurred several times in the course of a few hours, the officer is at wit's end, for he realizes that although he has done all that is humanly possible in the circumstances, the repeated complaints have reflected upon his efficiency, and he is probably due for a session "on the carpet." Residents could make the policeman's lot much easier if they would endeavor to establish the justice of their complaints before submitting them, or, still better, if they would try to tell their troubles to the officer directly concerned, and give him such additional information as would be of assistance in the eradication of the evil.

But leave his desk alone!

Clever Come Back

The skipper was making up the log for the day, and the first item ran: "The mate asked the skipper to delay the entry, 'No,' said the skipper, 'it's true, isn't it?' A few days later the mate was in charge of the ship, and his first entry in the log was: 'Captain sober today.' The captain seeing the entry, was angry and asked the mate what it meant. The mate replied: 'Well, it's true, isn't it?'"

Faith Plays Big Part

Dr. Simon Flexner, head of the Rockefeller Institute, said at a dinner in Philadelphia: "Don't be surprised at the faith cures you hear about. Even in legitimate medicine faith plays a large part. A friend of mine treated an old Mammyunk woman for typhoid fever. At each visit he put his thermometer in her mouth to take her temperature. She improved, and finally a day came when my friend could dispense with his temperature taking. That day he merely prescribed and departed. But he hadn't gone far from the house, when the old woman's daughter ran after him and called him back. 'Mother's much worse!' she said. My friend went back to the old woman. She looked at him reproachfully from her pillow and moaned: 'Doctor, why didn't ye gimme the jigger under the tongue today? That does me more good than all the rest of yer trash.'"

A Mother's Problem

He cannot be a lumberjack—
His daddy works at that,
And logging is too dangerous—
So that he settled for
He cannot be a president,
For you'll agree 'tis true
That presidents are called against
For everything they do.
In spite of all his cleverness
Or any natural bent
He shall be made a scapegoat
Like a U. S. president.

A politician, you suggest?
Why surely you are right!
No son of mine shall follow
That polished trade of graft.
And if he is a real estate
Or law, 'twould promise me;
My son must be too honest
To succeed at those, you see.
He can't be an inventor,
For I know beyond a doubt
That he'd electrify himself
Or burn his family out!

He cannot be a minister,
For early I suspect
Like other ministers, he'd live
On bougieous neglect.
On bougieous neglect,
His wife would look so "tacky"
And his children underfed,
While you and I supposed
The movie shows instead.

BY RUTH AGNES ABELING

Yes, you may think it's rather a bad world, all changed around and different from the way it should be. Everything is too expensive and it takes hours to get anywhere. And you haven't a car. You haven't been able to afford an electric range, either. The charming little tea wagon with the lovely luster tea things—well, it's still in the shop and probably will be for the next year so far as you are concerned. You can't have those things and there just isn't any use of your trying to keep up.

So you're just going to get bitter about it, as bitter as you please! You're going to fairly luxuriate in your own misery.

"There are some people to whom nothing good comes, anyhow," you philosophize and straightway concentrate on yourself a little harder and become even a little more bitter.

Just then that friend of yours from over the other side of town drops in. You really have to do something. She's come so far and she'll spend the whole afternoon.

Suddenly you remember that there are some people to whom nothing good comes, anyhow," you philosophize and straightway concentrate on yourself a little harder and become even a little more bitter.

was a time before you began to long for automobiles, electric ranges, tea wagons and the like, that you used to make delicious chocolate and there were always nice little cakes in the cake box. The combination seemed to add something friendly to the afternoon.

And so you brought out the long unused urn with the little cups and the delicate plates for cakes. You found you hadn't lost your art with chocolate and your friend discovered it.

After awhile—it was probably the chocolate which prompted it—the two of you walked to the back yard where zenias and asters blossomed. It seemed rather nice.

When your friend started to leave you remembered another of those old-fashioned friendly habits. You walked with her to where she waited for the car.

It had been a nice afternoon, hadn't it? And you didn't have any expensive luxuries—but you found a little real friendship within yourself.

J., school authorities as announced Thursday, the local board would not attempt to regulate the length of teachers' skirts.

The speaker was Miss Isabelle Cooper, who holds a position unique in all the world. She is official field artist for the New York zoological society in its tropical research work.

Miss Cooper has recently returned from the society's station in British Guinea, South America, where for 11

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

How half sisters baffle and disagree over the star-hill farm of their deceased father, and how they are brought together through the homemade advice of the village paperhanger make the strong points of "Without a Will There's a Way," which is being played this week at the B. F. Keith theatre by Will M. Cressy and Blanche Dayne. It was written by Mr. Cressy and it is in his very best vein. It is played faultlessly.

A singing super writer is Joseph Darcey, a blackface comedian who spills a lot of new comedy and who introduces the new act of song hits.
Then there are Herman & Shirley in "The Mysterious Masquerader," a wonderful contortion act. Raig & Lavare are among the very best entertainers seen here this entire season, while Samaroff and Sonia give the interesting dances and games of Old Russia.
Other acts are the singing melange of Allen & Cantor, and the music of The Parshleys.

RIALTO THEATRE

Sydney Franklin's latest production,
"Courage," which opened an entirely new program at the Rialto theatre yesterday afternoon is one of the best screen productions seen in this section for many weeks. It gives Naomi Childers a part that is peculiarly suited to her exceptional talents, that of a plucky wife who waits patiently for a wrongfully imprisoned husband and who finally wins out by patience and perseverance. In addition to this feature the week end program of the Rialto includes a strong Grace Davison production, "Love, Hate and a Woman," also a Fountaine Fox comedy,
"The Skipper's Scheme," and a set of snappy "Hotographs." Don't fail to see this program which has but two more days to run. Under the renovation and remodeling which has gone on for months the Rialto now offers one of the most comfortable and attractive theatres in the city.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

A strong dramatic story with a swiftly moving plot, a popular star, massive settings and much intense action are the outstanding features of Elaine Hammerstein's latest photoplay, "Handcuffs or Kisses," now showing at the Merrimack Square theatre. The story tells of the bitter struggle of a young girl who is unjustly committed to a reformatory.
"The Blot," a Lois Weber production, is the other big feature for the weekend. "The Blot" is a drama more powerful than "Handcuffs or Kisses," now recently created such an excellent impression here. A comedy and the international News complete the bill.

"Three Sevens"

Most of the action of "Three Sevens" was filmed at the Arizona state penitentiary at Florence. Prison officials and the governor of the state, were so impressed with the story and the message it conveys that they allowed the prisoners to take part in the photoplay. At one time more than a hundred convicts were placed upon their honor and allowed outside the jail. Not one tried to escape.

"ROARING WATERS"

"SERVICE STRIPES"

Is the comedy offered.

Players at the Opera House. "Dangerous Love" is a delightful and interesting melodrama that has enough good comedy in its lines to make a proper and satisfying balance. The engaging cast is excellent and the scenic effects and staging of the play could hardly be improved upon. A few choice seats are still to be had for the remaining performances. Order at once. Tel. 261.

Next week's attraction will be Willie Collier's great comedy drama, "The Hottentot," which is to be given for the first time in New England outside of Boston. Director Revolt promises to give it his best efforts, which should be assurance of a first class production.

THE STRAND

Two wonderfully good photoplays are being shown at the Strand during the last three days of this week. The first is Eugene O'Brien in "Is Life Worth Living?" The other is Gladys Walton in "Short Skirts." Both are exceptional film offerings and have a pleasing mixture of comedy and drama, as well as some fine characterizations. The rest of the bill is rounded out with the usual semi-weekly features. Don't forget the big things promised for next week.

NEW LAKEVIEW PARK

Tomorrow night, and the season at Lakeview will come to a happy conclusion. The popular picnic ground, established more than 30 years ago, has never had a season to compare with this. All attendance records have been broken. The public has appreciated the efforts of the management to make this the ideal resort of the kind along the Merrimack valley.

SEEKING MRS. DUHAIME

Assistance in locating the whereabouts of Mrs. Elizabeth Duhaime, said to be in Lowell, was requested of the Sun by Mr. Charles Richardson, agent of the Lowell Humane society.
Today, as a son of the woman, Jeffrey, is seriously ill at a Dorchester children's home, it is imperative that the mother be located as soon as possible. Mr. Richardson stated that some time ago Mrs. Duhaime resided at 433 Broadway, but recently mail sent to that address has been returned.

GENERAL GUINEY COUNCIL

A meeting of General Guiney council was held last evening. It was called to order by President Maltin at 8 o'clock. Communications were received from Congressman John Jacob Rogers and the mayor of Limerick. Reports were received from the social committee. There will be an entertaining next Thursday evening.
There being no other business, the meeting adjourned to meet Thursday, Oct. 6, at 8 o'clock.

RUSH TO AID OF NAVAL TUG

Cutter and Naval Craft Go to Assist Bagaduce, Ashore off Fisher's Island

24 Members of Crew Taken Off in Surf Boats—Tug Lying High Among Rocks

NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 30.—The naval tug Bagaduce, bound from Portsmouth, N. H., to the submarine base, this city, ran ashore on Broth's Hummock, east shore of Fisher's Island, eight miles from here in a dense fog late yesterday. Twenty-four members of the crew were taken off in surf boats by members of the Fisher Island coastguard life-saving corps.

Besides the coastguard Acushnet, which was ordered out from Wood's Hole, Mass., to the assistance of the craft, the naval tug Lykens was dispatched from New York and naval craft from the submarine base and wrecking craft from this city went to the tug's aid.

The tug is reported today lying high among the rocks, but in no immediate danger. Wrecking tugs are standing by and will attempt to float her.

BROUGHT LIQUOR TO FATTY'S SUITE

Federal Probe Into Supply of Booze Consumed at Arbuckle Party Under Way.

Investigators Find Witness Who Delivered Liquor—
Hint Gigantic Plot

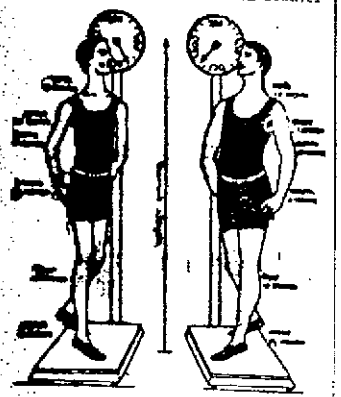

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—Preparations for the prosecution of Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle, on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Raper today were overshadowed at least for a time by the federal investigation into the supply of liquor drunk by the guests at the comedian's hotel party at which the state contends the girl was injured fatally.

Belief that his investigations had uncovered a gigantic liquor smuggling ring, operating with San Francisco as a base and which imports liquors only of choice brands and quality from Mexico and Canada, was expressed by Federal Prohibition Director E. Forrest Mitchell. He is making his inquiry at the instance of Robert H. McCormack, special assistant to the United States attorney general.

Mitchell last night stated that he had a witness who delivered liquor to Arbuckle's suite at the hotel St. Francis.

Arbuckle left San Francisco last night for Los Angeles in company with his wife, his mother-in-law and defense attorneys. A sleeping car on the train was turned over to the Arbuckle party exclusively. Arbuckle will remain there it was announced until summoned to San Francisco for trial on the manslaughter charge.

ARE YOU SCRAWNY
AND WITHOUT FORCE
The Way to Get Heavier and Stronger

Your weight tells you your condition. Are you losing or are you gaining? MEDIC-YEST enters into what you eat, aids your digestion and gives your body that healthful strong energy which is destroyed in the process of cooking. It is the only food that is not lost in the process of cooking. If you are thin, too light, or feel height, weak and tired, if you are for- getting catching cold, you will find it worth while to try the simple experi- ment: First measure and weigh your- self, and continue to take MEDIC- YEST TABLETS, two of them with each meal. At the end of a week, measure and weigh yourself, and con- tinue to take MEDIC-YEST TABLETS until you have gained all the weight you want. It is not a matter of hours or opinion as to what it does to you— the mirror, the scales and tape meas- ure will tell the story that cannot be disputed. MEDIC-YEST TABLETS will pos- sibly form more solid flesh and in- crease energy when taken with every meal. MEDIC-YEST should not be used by anyone who is opposed to ac- quiring normal weight. MEDIC-YEST is fully guaranteed by the makers. Always insist on hav- ing the genuine MEDIC-YEST. See Edward and A. W. Dow's carry MEDIC- YEST or can quickly procure it for you from their jobber—there is nothing else like it.—Adv.

MAN MORTALLY BEATEN

Gagged in Bost'n Lodging House

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—A man believed to be John A. McNiff of Salem, was mortally beaten, trussed and gagged at a West End lodging house early to- day. Two men in the uniforms of naval seamen, who accompanied McNiff to his room and left hurriedly several hours later, were sought by the police as his probable assailants. The partial identification was made from letters in a pocket addressed to John A. McNiff, 23 Rawlins street, Salem. The victim had been robbed. Two sailors were taken into custody by the police in their attempt to round up the men who were with McNiff. McNiff was a retail shoe salesman here, 32 years of age. He served overseas as a member of the Harvard hospital unit for 20 months.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

STOCK MARKET

The following is a complete report, giving high, low and closing quotations:

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Initial prices in the stock market today were mixed, but a firm tone soon developed on renewed buying of rails and oils. Delaware, Lackawanna & Western was more responsive to the increased dividend, and Mexican Petroleum, Royal Dutch and General Asphalt rose moderately on short covering. Copper, motors, equipments and rubbers were firm and food and chemical issues led the stronger specialties. Local tracings were not affected by the transit commission's plan to merge all city lines. The feature of the foreign exchange market was a further rally of German marks.

On the further rise of the first hour, Baldwin, Republic Iron, Gulf States Steel, Houston Oil, Kelly-Springfield, Ajax Rubber, Endicott-Johnson, Food Products and International Paper gained 1 to 2 points. Leaders became reactionary before noon, however. Mexican Petroleum, Tobacco, Tobacco Products, North Dakota and Pierce-Arrow common and preferred, declining 1 to 3 points. Trading in Liberty bonds and Victory notes fell away sharply. Some of the foreign exchange was heavy, particularly French government 7½ and 5s and Belgian 7½s. Call money opened and renewed into next week at 4½ per cent.

Coal and coppers were featured in the dull mid-session, gaining one to two points. Lehigh Valley's strength was associated with reports that the segregation plan may soon be announced. General Electric and American Sugar were heaviest of the industrials. Call money rose to 5½ per cent.

Call money rose to 6 per cent in the last hour, precipitating further selling of the general list. Mexican Petroleum fell 3 points and industrial leaders lost 1 to 2 points. The closing was heavy. The bond market was irregular, foreign issues reacting with further strength and activity in Liberty and Victory issues.

The Greatest Single Convenience Ever Installed in a Kitchen Cabinet

If you want to take advantage of this opportunity, you will have to act tomorrow. And if you are wise, you will act early in the day—just consider what we offer!

$1 Delivers Your HOOSIER—and with it FREE a $7.50 Set of Dexter Kitchen Tools

Don't let tomorrow close without investigating this proposition. There are four real reasons why you should buy a Hoosier—and buy it now.

FIRST

We deliver your Hoosier when you pay your first dollar. You pay the balance a little at a time. No extra charge for these easy terms;

SECOND

You do not pay a cent more than the regular price of Hoosier. The low 1921 prices for the Hoosier prevail. These prices are fixed by the factory;

THIRD

For one more day we will give FREE with every Hoosier Beauty sold, the handsome, practical Kitchen Set and Special Tool-Compartment Tray shown above—the greatest single convenience ever installed in a Kitchen Cabinet;

FOURTH

There is no kitchen convenience that can compare with the Hoosier. It is not an ordinary Kitchen Cabinet, but a real working center at which all kitchen activities are concentrated.

You are going to get a HOOSIER some day—why not get it while this special proposition lasts?

THIS OFFER ENDS SATURDAY

The kitchen tools are made by the Harrington Cutlery Company, of Southbridge, Mass., and endorsed by leading domestic science experts. The set retails for $7.50. For one day more you get it FREE in a Special Tool-Compartment Tray, built right in the Hoosier.

When Hoosier's big, uncluttered work-table is extended, this tray comes out with it, so you can always get at each tool easily and quickly. This feature has never before been incorporated in a Kitchen Cabinet.

It is positively the greatest single convenience ever installed in a Cabinet. The Tray is not regular Hoosier equipment, but has been added to the Hoosiers offered during this sale.

The set comprises ten pieces, all of the Best Carbon Tool Steel, including six fine, sharp knives, two kitchen forks, and two spatulas. Knives are finely ground and guaranteed to hold a keen edge.

You cannot get this Set and Tool-Compartment Tray after this sale closes, AT ANY PRICE. Right now you get BOTH—FREE—when you pay the dollar that sends your Hoosier home.

MANUFACTURERS' SALES TAX OF 3 PER CENT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—A manufacturers sales tax of 3 per cent, was formally proposed to the senate today by Senator Smoot, republican, Utah.

The senator explained that this would be in substitution for "all of the various war taxes, the excise taxes, luxury taxes, stamp taxes, capital stock tax, transportation, telegraph and insurance taxes, the taxes on soft drinks, ice cream, cosmetics, admissions and dues, and all of the other 57 varieties of obnoxious, discriminatory forms of taxation," which would be repealed on next January 1, under a series of amendments to the revenue bill offered by the senator.

Repeal of the excess profits tax as of last January 1, instead of on next January 1, as planned by both the house and the senate finance committees, also was proposed by Senator Smoot. Under his amendments the corporation income tax would remain at 10 per cent, but there would be no change in the present tobacco, liquor and inheritance taxes.

The sales tax amendment read: "That in addition to all other taxes there shall be levied, assessed, collected and paid upon every commodity manufactured or produced when sold, leased or licensed for consumption or use without further process of manufacture, a tax equivalent to 3 per cent, of the price for which such commodity is sold, leased or licensed; such tax to be paid by the manufacturer or producer."

"There will be but one tax," said

Senator Smoot in explaining his taxing scheme. "If a commodity is sold for consumption or use in a further process of manufacture, no tax will be imposed. For example, crude oil sold for fuel would be taxable, but if sold to a refinery for the making of gasoline or like commodities would not be taxable."

"In order to avoid administrative difficulties with small sales, the bill provides for an exemption of all sales of less than $5000 during one year."

"Provision is made for a like tax upon similar imported commodities so that there can be no discrimination against American products."

"The yield of this tax has been carefully estimated, and approved by one of the foremost economists in the country, Professor Charles J. Bullock, of Harvard, to produce during the calendar year 1922, $758,756,000. Conservatism has been exercised throughout this estimate. The yield will undoubtedly be close to $1,000,000,000, but the figure given is more than ample to provide revenue which will be lost by the repeal of which I propose."

HARDING TO PRESENT ROOSEVELT'S CHAIR

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—President Harding will present to the Roosevelt Memorial Association the desk chair which Theodore Roosevelt used in the White House, the association announced today. The presentation will take place on the steps of the White House next Wednesday and will be the president's contribution to the collection of memorabilia which the association is making.

CHARGES PLOT TO HALT RUSSIAN RELIEF

GENEVA, Sept. 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Charges that a systematic campaign was being waged to put obstructions in the way of international relief for Russia by interests which had political objects in view, were made in the Assembly of the League of Nations today by Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, high commissioner of the international committee for Russian relief.

Dr. Nansen said he thought this campaign was due to fear in some quarters that relief for Russia would strengthen the soviet government.

"The success of Herbert Hoover's work, as well as mine, depends entirely upon the co-operation of the soviet government," he said.

Dr. Nansen appealed to the nations and peoples of the whole world to act before it was too late.

Grain was rotting in the granaries of the United States, he said, and Canada alone could export enough grain to save Russia from starvation.

During the debate M. Stalkovitch of Jugo-Slavia asked the assembly to include in its resolution a condemnation of the Bolshevik regime.
